

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT REFLECTS POPULATION BOOM

Full sessions
in grade schools

Arlington Heights North and South schools will open for all elementary children Tuesday morning, September 7, with all day sessions for all pupils except kindergartners. Superintendent R. E. Clabaugh announced this week.

Kindergarten children will have a full half-day session on that day and parents are urged to plan to bring them to the school and leave them for the complete session. Kindergarten pupils whose birthdays fall before June 2 will attend the afternoon sessions and those born on and after June 2 will be placed in the morning groups, unless arrangements for their transfer because of transportation difficulties have been made with the superintendent.

"It is hoped all children, new to the system, will have been registered for school before the opening day," Clabaugh stated. With the exception of kindergartners, pupils can now be registered in the school they will attend. It would, however, be best to call the North school office for an appointment before coming there for this purpose, inasmuch as staff members are engaged for a considerable portion of their time in the pre-term planning conference.

All staff members are devoting the full week preceding the opening of school to this planning conference. Such a conference serves to orient new teachers and to give all staff members an opportunity to a modern educational program. In addition, much of the routine concerned with the opening of a school year can be completed so that instruction can get under way promptly with the opening of school.

School authorities report the buildings have been completely renovated, necessary repairs and replacements have been completed, including decorating of several classrooms, and supplies and equipment necessary for the school year are on hand.

Heart attack takes physician, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Elfeld

Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Elfeld received word early Thursday morning of the sudden death of their daughter, Dr. Persis E. Elfeld-Bieringer.

The fatal attack came in the early hours at the sanitarium, known as "Home on the Green," which she and her husband operated on the Concord Pike at the Pennsylvania state line.

The remains were taken to St. Louis where the funeral was held Saturday with interment in the Faust family lot.

In addition to her husband and parents, there survives one brother, Edward, who is in the personnel department at Scott Field, Belleville.

The physician, who was widely known in the field of mental disease care, was born in German Valley and came to Arlington Heights with her parents in 1902. She attended Carl Schurz high school, Beloit college, where she took her premedical course, graduating from the medical school of the University of Illinois in 1923. She interned at the University hospital, Chicago; was employed for a time by the Institute for Juvenile Research; was resident physician at the State Teachers College in Minn. N. D., and was associated with the U. S. Public Health Child Welfare Department.

She was appointed an assistant physician at the Delaware State Hospital October 1, 1926, and was promoted to senior assistant physician in August, 1929. She was made assistant superintendent on May 1, 1931, from which she resigned, because of ill health, on July 16, 1945, but accepting an appointment as a part-time assistant physician. She severed her connection with the hospital on June 9, 1946, for the purpose of establishing the rest home.

Her marriage to Dr. Bieringer, a former resident of Germany, took place July 28, 1941.

The doctor's last visit to the home of her parents was last December. Persis Elfeld, as she was called by her Arlington Heights friends through the years, had a desire to follow in the footsteps of her father from the time that she was a young child. As she grew older she was more determined to give her utmost for the relief of humanity, her special interest being mental disorders. She has really died on "the field of battle."

Officer Ray Jahnke, of Arlington Heights police force, took the new police motorcycle, purchased by the department to nab parking violators, on its maiden run last week.

Jahnke stated the new silver scooter is "terrific." It 1) has a turning radius of 8 feet 4 inches, 2) a special hand siren, 3) drives like an auto with four shifts, and 4) as special feature, has shifting gear on the right and brakes on the left. The fourth feature, according to Jahnke, was specially included to help the officer mark auto tires more easily with the piece of "bent pipe and chalk" he holds in his right hand. Within the next few months, walkie-talkie equipment will be installed on the scooter that will provide scooter-to-station and scooter-to-police car communications.

One week drive to close concert group membership

The purpose of the Community Concert plan is to make concerts possible on a basis which eliminates all financial risk on the part of any person, group or organization.

The Arlington Heights Community Concert Assn. is organized on a membership basis. Each member pays annual dues, entitling him to attend all of the concerts presented by the association each season without additional expense.

This membership is secured during a one-week membership campaign starting September 20 and closing positively the following Saturday night. During this one week every citizen of the community is invited to join the association. At the end of this week the membership list is closed and no one may join for another year.

ONLY MEMBERS of the association may attend the concerts. There are no single admissions sold for any concerts or attractions.

The success of the Arlington Heights Community Concert Assn. is assured by the fact that enough memberships must be secured during the membership week to make possible a minimum of four major concerts, or the association will not function.

Every dollar paid into the association is spent for artists and attractions and the attending local expenses.

The membership cost in the Arlington Heights Community Concert Assn. is the same as in the other 1100 associations throughout the United States. It is $5.00 plus $1.00 tax or $6.00 each. This assures each member without any additional expense whatever the opportunity of attending four major concerts in the Arlington Heights gymnasium.

Here are the results of such a campaign:

Assurance of an audience first before talent is engaged.

Permanency for a concert series in Arlington Heights.

Financial security for the present and future.

Expansion of community interest in musical affairs.

No profit—no loss.

THE SERIES of lectures sponsored by the Woman's Club of Arlington Heights is another fine thing for the community. Its support is evidence of its success again this year.

Community concerts, together with the Woman's Club series of lectures, will make for an enjoyable and delightful winter ahead.

Additional information about the concerts can be gained by calling Gale Blocki, Jr., at 1329. J. Milo Little at 1538, or Mrs. A. H. Franzen at 525, all in Arlington Heights.

Bring your oboe, Jazbo

Arlington Heights high school band members should bring their instruments to school on Wednesday, as band rehearsals will start that day. A concert is scheduled for this week end.

Eleven-year-old robs mail box of two checks

An Arlington boy celebrated his 11th birthday by rifling a mail box this week in the hallway of 18 East Northwest Highway. Attempting to cash checks for $7 and $13 at the Arlington Heights National Bank he was told an endorsement was required.

The boy borrowed a pen at the Sieburg drug store and printed the endorsements lengthwise on the checks. The bank refused to honor them and also refused to return the checks, notifying the police.

The boy was picked up and at a hearing to be held this week, his parents will be required to consult a psychiatrist. No report was made to the government.

Mt. Prospect purchases site
for library building

Mt. Prospect Library board considers that it has been fortunate in securing a site for a future building at the northwest corner of Busse ave. and Emerson street. It is convenient to both schools and the business district.

THE BOARD has made a part payment on the land and is depending on contributions from friends of the library to complete its purchase and for the nucleus of a future building fund.

It has been suggested that contributions from a thousand Mt. Prospect residents would provide the needed funds. Acting on that suggestion a "One Thousand Club" is to be organized. Details for such a plan are in the making and will be announced later.

ARLINGTON Heights has a fund of over $10,000 resting in government bonds until such time as there is an awakened interest on the part of its citizens for a memorial library building.

Delay Lutheran school opening until Sept. 15

St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, will open the school year on September 15, since the new classrooms will not be completed until that date.

School will begin at 9 a. m. on September 15 with a divine service in the church. School lunches will not be served until Monday, September 20. Children are asked to bring their own lunches until that time.

Geisen Bus company will again furnish transportation for children living north and south of the community. The teachers' workshop will be conducted on September 14 instead of September 7.

All classrooms have been thoroughly cleaned. Lower grades this year will be located on the first floor and upper grades, beginning with the third, will be housed on the second floor. The eighth grade will retain its present location.

Although St. Peter school is a private parochial school, its facilities are available to community parents interested in a Christian training for their children. For further information call the pastor at 256 or the principal at 1322-M.

Ida Stahmer, former head of Lutheran Old Folks Home, succumbs

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Stahmer, 73, of Arlington Heights, were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 1, with Rev. Luther V. Stepan, of St. Peter Lutheran church, officiating. Interment was at Addison cemetery.

Mrs. Stahmer died at her home Monday, August 30, after a prolonged illness. Mrs. Stahmer and her husband took over management of the Lutheran Old Folks home in 1928, the year they moved to Arlington Heights and she continued to direct its activities from 1938 to 1943. Her husband died on July 4, 1938.

Upon retiring her duties at home, she resided with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Neumann, at 30 S. Mitchell.

Other survivors are a son, Victor J. Stahmer, of Arlington Heights; two brothers and one sister.

Start work on new R. R. depot at Palatine

Preliminary construction work on the new Palatine railroad station began Wednesday. The general contract was recently awarded to G. A. Johnson & Son, 740 Rush street, Chicago.

Charles Vogt, Palatine, is proceeding with the excavation. It is expected that both Slade and Bothwell streets will be closed to vehicle traffic this week.

Palatine has six railroad crossings within its business district. The elimination of two will still leave four. Two of them will be connected by the new pavement that will parallel the tracks.

STATE OF ILLINOIS has approved the installation of stop and go lights at the intersection of Northwest Highway and Chicago avenue.

The "Tales of the Street" reporter of Paddock Publications, who is supposed to be on vacation, phoned into the office Wednesday morning a real scoop over heads of all local officials. It is the greatest story that has broken in Palatine for a long time.

He informed the editor that he had authentic information that stop lights have been authorized by the state for the Chicago avenue and Northwest highway.

He declined to give the source of his information, saying that it was absolutely trustworthy and that the village would soon be asked to take the necessary cooperative steps to make the installation a certainty. It will be asked to supply the current for the operation of the lights.

No local officials, committees or safety councils had anything to do with the state's action, says Mr. Hart, but a vote of thanks from the grateful public certainly goes to those individuals who made possible the protection at this dangerous corner.

The installation is expected to be started this fall and will be in complete operation next spring.

'Skipping' radio waves from L. A. lure Cook county police to the West

Nobody on the Cook county highway police force would be surprised one bit if some fine night a local quack turned up at Hollywood and Vine.

It's all because of freak radio waves, for believe it or not, Los Angeles county police calls have been coming in louder than Cook county calls over the police radios of Sheriff Elmer Walsh's deputies.

Acting Radio Supervisor Max J. Altman said, "This is really confusing. Those Los Angeles calls sound just like the real thing here, and the way they're drawn out the local calls, it has us running around in circles sometimes."

It doesn't happen all the time, Altman added. "Just when the west coast radio waves are able to bounce off just right from the upper air layers." It is a "skip" and not a true signal that is received, he said.

Consideration of a new frequency for the county police is up before the Cook county board and may be acted on at the first fall session September 7. Another request before the board was made by the sheriff to have the system switched to frequency modulation from the present AM broadcasting. This would be strictly local and static free, but would cost about $40,000, it was pointed out. Upkeep, however, is considered cheaper.

Cook county highway police have 28 squad cars in operation at present.

State highway dept.
beats the petition

When occasion arises the state highway department can act fast. Hearing that a big petition was in preparation, asking for stop signs at the intersection of Rand and route 83, they saw the hand writing on the wall and that intersection became a four-way stop on Monday.

Rand road traffic was slow in recognizing the signs and state police had a harvest the next few days. Similar signs are expected to be installed at Dundee and Rand roads.

Palatine man first to visit draft board

George Aubrey of Palatine was first in line to register for the peace-time draft at Arlington Heights village hall. He visited Forrest Davis, village clerk, (at left) at 8 p. m. to "get it over with."

James Millay, secretary for draft board 191, announced this week that all men who were unable to register on their particular days may do so at any time this Saturday, September 4, from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. or any day thereafter.

CONTRARY to the situation in many other draft board areas, there have been no long waiting lines at Arlington village hall. However, women volunteers to register the men are still needed.

"We need three women a day for the registrations," Davis stated this week. Women also may volunteer for half a day or may contact Forrest Davis or Miss Erna Dieball, VFW auxiliary president, Mrs. Merle Holtz,

WOMEN volunteers this week have included Mrs. Charles Heiss, Mrs. Dorothy Hauff, Mrs. Ruth Hoffer, Mrs. Lewis Willis, Mrs. Anne Davis, Mrs. Dan Schreuren, Mrs. Dorothy Rodewald, Mrs. William Taylor and Mrs. Clifford Troup.

Fifty-seven men registered on Monday, 102 on Tuesday and 82 on Wednesday. Thursday and Friday, September 2 and 3, is registration day for men born in 1924. Men born in 1925 may register from September 4 through 7, and men born in 1926 on September 8 and 9.

Students who will be away from home at school may register during the 20-day period ending September 18 at any local board office near their place of residence, using their home address when registering. Their cards will be forwarded to home boards.

European trip over,
pastor resumes pulpit duties September 19

Rev. Vondracek, of Arlington Heights Methodist church, will leave for New York from Southampton on Friday and arrive in Arlington Heights to deliver the September 19 service.

Rev. Vondracek has been gone since June 15 and spent one month in Czechoslovakia and one in Poland as counselor to three students of the Methodist Youth Caravan group.

Since August 15 he has been visiting in Switzerland, Germany and Brussels, and he also attended sessions of the World Wide Protestant council at Amsterdam.

While in England, Rev. Vondracek visited John Wesley memorials and shrines.

Arlington woman just misses trip on fatal plane

Mrs. Rex Volz was at Chicago airport awaiting a plane to Rochester, Minn., when the ill-fated Minneapolis plane took off Sunday night. Although her destination was Rochester, she landed at Minneapolis, which the other plane never reached.

The Rochester plane passed through the same storm and after circling Rochester 20 minutes was unable to land and continued to Minneapolis where Mrs. Volz remained until morning.

Dog days

Four-footed disturbers of the peace were in the police blotter spotlight this week.

Mrs. T. Siemrow, 600 E. Euclid, brought a dog to the station last Friday. The owner, was notified to keep his dog at home. He paid a 50 cent pound fee.

On the same day Mrs. Mitchell of 304 S. Mitchell, reported a sick cat in the neighborhood. Officer Baker investigated and removed the animal.

Mr. Moodie, 503 N. Douglas, complained of a dog in the neighborhood disturbing early morning quiet. Police could not find the noisy pup.

On August 29, Mrs. Van Steen, 403 N. Haddon, reported a stray black and white dog at her house. The chief brought it to the station.

Mrs. Mulligan, of 214 N. Evergreen, told police she had lost a black, five week old pointer. The animal answers to "Pud."

Holiday seasonal table arrangements featured at antique show

From all parts of Chicagoland to the Methodist meeting house of Arlington Heights, hobbyists and antique fanciers will come September 14-16 to see the fifth edition of the antique and hobby show.

The dealer's shops will draw many of the visitors who are eager to be among the first to choose from the attractively displayed furniture, china, glass, copper, pewter, silver, and jewelry.

Hobbyists have shown much interest in exhibiting their own collections at this show. The recently decorated stage and gymnasium will make an excellent background for these selected hobbies.

At St. John's church, table settings and quilts will become an integral part of the show. Under direction of Mrs. Joseph F. McMath, settings will feature practical ideas for modern entertaining. Topping tray arrangements and coffee table ensembles will receive special attention this year.

To please all-aged admirers of this lovely exhibit, some high school students will prepare a "jam-session" table. The parents of very young children will enjoy the fairyland theme worked out completely with miniature wands and fairy wings.

A bridal buffet table, the "First Thanksgiving," Christmas, and the family picnic, are a few of the themes to be emphasized in the arrangements. The Crocodylon China company of Lincolnwood has offered the use of some of their fine china for several settings.

Assisting Mrs. McMath are Mrs. Albert T. Haakinson, Mrs. Harold W. Dotts, Mrs. Ellsworth A. Meineke, Mrs. John A. Lindstrom, and Mrs. Thomas W. Thackeray III.

Mrs. Francis H. Sweet, chairman of the quilt and heirloom display, lists the beautiful garden quilt made by Miss Myrtle Engelking as one to be shown after its return from the Cook County fair where it is now in competition with other quilts. Mrs. Walter G. Edelblute and Mrs. J. D. Crittenden are helping Mrs. Sweet.

Chairmen of the antique and hobby show are Mrs. Harold E. Olsen and Mrs. Charles Deigl.

Expect 100 more
Arlington high

Freshman day at Arlington Heights township high school on Tuesday, September 7, will launch another school year for more than 800 students, as compared to an enrollment of 700 for 1947-48.

A STUDENT-FACULTY committee, headed by H. L. Slichenmyer, director of guidance, met at the high school on Monday to complete the Freshman day plans.

As has been the policy for several years, leading students from upper classes speak and discuss various phases of the school on the Freshman day program. They will describe courses of study, and explain room assignments, activities and policies and procedures of the high school.

Student committee members: Robert Hinds, Ronald Anderson, James Blackburn, Elaine Goewille, Laura Fritz, Carol Cox, Orville Schaeffer, Roger Kennedy, William Cutler, Ingeborg Nienhold.

Carol Faulstich, Nancy Wier, Antonio Moretti, James Brown, George Kovacic, Carol Dempsey, Bonnie Peterson, Pat Ryden, Franz Burnier, Bob M. Arnold, Arthur Koester.

Robert Cowen, August Krause, Robert Packard, Phoebe Ellis, Pearl McDonald, Patsy Donovan, Kenneth Bork, Richard Spratt, Merlin Wilke, Arnold Kroeber, Delores Wilke, Kay Kraybill and Delores Krause.

Warren Lattot, Dick Morrow, Bob Ragland, Marilyn Franks, Mary Ann Gerbois, and Elizabeth Nichols.

ON FRESHMAN DAY, September 7, buses will run their regular routes at the time schedules announced in the newspaper two weeks ago. Freshmen will be in school from 8:10 a. m. to 12 noon, at which time the buses will be ready to return them to their homes. There will be no late bus on Tuesday.

St. James school to open Wednesday

St. James school will open on Wednesday, September 8, at 8 a. m. with a high mass.

Teachers this year are Sister Laurelle, OSF, first grade; Sister Bertilia, OSF, second; Sister Borromea, OSF, third and fourth; Sister Florence, OSF, fourth and fifth; Sister Rosewitha, OSF, fifth and sixth; Sister Alois, OSF, seventh; Sister Marie, OSF, eighth and principal; and Sister Anabella, OSF, music.

Enrollment to date is 274, showing an increase of 23 since last year. A new classroom has been added, bringing the total to seven.

The additional classroom was made possible by the new home across the street that will be occupied by the school faculty.

Ask Arlington police to aid in collection of meter fines

Arlington residents are discovering that just because they reside in a town without parking meters does not mean that they can disregard them in other towns.

Police in metered towns are asking Arlington police to aid them in collecting fines for meter violations. Chief Skoog is passing on the information that there is nothing to stop an irate police chief down state from paying a Cook county constable to nab the man who does not mail in his fine.

Add electronics course to adult evening curriculum

L. L. Cruise, of Des Plaines, will teach electronics at Arlington Heights adult evening school, Principal LeRoy J. Knoepel announced this week.

The course will consist of discussion and demonstration of basic electronic principles. Cruise received a B. A. degree from University of Iowa and an M. A. degree from Fort Hays Kansas State college. He also conducted several courses in measurements during the war under auspices of the University of Illinois.

Men and Cancer
by SIEBURG DRUG CO.
Men are cancer victims too, but somehow you don't hear as much about cancer cases among men. This is probably due to the fact that many men reach such an advanced stage of the disease before consulting a physician that there is less chance for cure or control than among women.
Yet by physical examination the doctor could detect these early signs of cancer in men. Regular examinations should be regarded by a man not merely as a personal obligation to himself, but as a protection for his family.
As medical science makes new drugs available for the prevention and cure of diseases, the conscientious pharmacist adds them to his stocks.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 29, was:

"CHRIST JESUS"
The Golden Text was:
"The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke 19: 10).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon were the following from the Bible:

"Now when John had heard in the prison the works of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and said unto him, Art thou he that should come, or do we look for another? Jesus answered and said unto them, Go and show John again those things which ye do hear and see: The blind receive their sight, and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them" (Matt. 11: 2-5).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Why are the words of Jesus more frequently cited for our instruction than are his remarkable works? Is it not because there are few who have gained a true knowledge of the great import to Christianity of those words? . . . Jesus' works established his claim to the Messiahship . . . He claimed no intelligence, action nor life separate from God. Despite the persecution this brought upon him, he used his divine power to save men both bodily and spiritually" (pp. 358, 131, 126).

N. State road, phone 412-J.
A smoker is being planned for the winter season, but the post desires a suitable meeting place. Contact Robert Schnell or S. Greschner.

The building committee for the new club room urges members to scout the city for suitable sites. All club room details should go to Otto Masny, 100 W. Campbell, or George Hauff, 8 E. Euclid.
The Ladies auxiliary donated two 24-inch fans to the vets at Elgin hospital including installation with standards to fill a request of the boys themselves. A vote of thanks is extended to Robert Koeppen, senior vice commander, for expediting the fans.

Bring a comrade with you to the meeting. Pot of gold is $12.

Budget hearing notice

A semi-annual budget hearing for Wheeling township road and bridge budget will be held September 7 at 8 p. m. at the office of County Supervisor Gilbert Klehm at 104 E. Northwest highway, Arlington Heights. The public is invited to attend.

Month of August was not so hot says weatherman

Although there were eight days in the month of August when the temperature was higher than 90 degrees, the average temperature was only 73.7 — only two degrees above normal.
The month was an odd one, however, hitting both record highs and lows. On August 27th, the mercury soared to a torrid 97 — a record for that day — and on August 6th, it was down to 50 — a low for that date.

During those eight days when all Chicago sweated, the temperatures average 13 degrees above normal. And August was a sunny month, with the sunshine averaging 75 per cent compared to a normal 70 per cent. There was more than two inches less rain, too.

As for September, Forecaster Gordon E. Dunn said that on the basis of past experience the mercury will drop ten per cent to an average of 64.9 degrees. Rainfall will increase, and there has been frost registered in previous September.

County board to appoint new recorder; Kaindl dies Sunday

Nathan Balter, of 2601 Iowa street, has been named acting county recorder and registrar of deeds to replace Edward J. Kaindl, who had held the county post since 1934.

Kaindl, 63, died at the Deaconess hospital Sunday.
Balter was chief deputy to the recorder until his death, and will remain in his post until a successor is appointed to fill out the unexpired term. Responsibility for naming the next recorder falls into the hands of the County Board of Commissioners.

It is expected the board will act at its next meeting on September 7.

Kaindl, who lived at 921 North Sacramento, leaves a widow and one step-child. He was formerly the city collector and an alderman.

Couples club sees oil-plating movie

A visual story of a unique accomplishment in the field of modern automotive lubrication was unfolded in Continental Oil Company's motion picture, "The Miracle of Oil-Plating" when members of the Couples club of St. Peter's Lutheran church viewed the film the evening of Thursday, August 26 at the St. Peter's Lutheran school basement.

This motion picture, with a cast of Hollywood professional players, was filmed in Hollywood and in Continental Oil Company's big 1,200-acre refinery at Ponca City, Oklahoma, and presents the dramatic story of Oil-Plating.

The audience, while being entertained with a human interest narrative that contains both comedy and education, was introduced to such technical terms as methyl dichlorosulfate, thialkane, furfural, methyl ethyl ketone, hexane, and selective solvents, each with a basic function in the dramatic story of Oil-Plating.

The story moved around the huge refinery and took occasional circuitous routes through Continental Oil Company's many recreational facilities for employees, including the beautiful indoor swimming pool, tennis courts, athletic field, large gymnasium, and the colorfully designed cafeteria.

Al Kehe, program chairman, was in charge of the program, and arrangements for presentation of the film were made by Schimming Oil Company, local Continental Oil Company representatives.

Arlington cemetery was pioneer burial ground

by DR. B. T. BEST

Probably none of the residents of Arlington Heights ever think of the cemetery on East Euclid as being the town's oldest institution, yet it had its origin as a private burial lot of one of the pioneer families that came to Cook county in the early days.

The oldest inscription reads "Jes. H. Kennicott. B. 1805-D. 1838 Buried at Houston, Tex." As far as is known, the oldest actual interments are of Jane Kennicott. B. 1781-D. 1841, and George A. F. Kennicott. B. 1821-D. 1841.

Later inscriptions show that other pioneer families were allowed to use spaces for burial west of that portion set aside for use of the Kennicotts. While there is no record at this early date of any transfer of land, a tradition exists that some of this land was donated by the Kennicott and Millard families to the community burial ground.

The first record of organization that exists now is a record of a meeting held at the home of Ira Millard on May 3, 1852, at which time was organized "The Hill Cemetery Association of the Town of Wheeling, Cook County, Ill." Officers elected were: president, Ira Millard, secretary, Abram Comfort, and agent, Wm. H. Dunton. The latter was authorized to sell lots at $1 each (5 spaces), the money to be used "to pay for and to fence the grounds."

In 1875 the name was changed to "The Dunton Cemetery Association" and chartered by the Secretary of State as a "Corporation not for profit." The name was again changed in 1902 to "The Arlington Heights Cemetery Association."

In 1897 additional land was purchased, which doubled the size of the grounds, and will be ample for many years to come.

It was the plan of the original board of directors to sell the lots for family use, thus providing for several generations. As a result as many as four generations are now on the same lot. Succeeding boards have followed the same plan, so it can be truly said the history of the locality can be read in the inscriptions on the monuments in this old burial grounds.

The sentimental feature of the family burial lot has not faded away in the 110 years of the existence of this cemetery. In one month last winter, the mortal remains of one person from New Jersey, and another from California came to rest here with their ancestors, while a third was buried on a lot on which the first two interments were made in 1848, one hundred years ago.

In the early days most of the lot owners were adherents of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, though church affiliation was never a qualification for possession of a lot. Furthermore, a last resting place has never been denied any one on account of religious belief, race or financial condition. They rest here in peace, past the judgment of man, and equal before their Creator.

It would not be possible to have a well-kept cemetery over a century old, for such things do not run themselves, were it not for the form of ownership and government in use here, and the unselfish diligence of those in charge. It is a corporation, with owners of whole lots as stockholders.

An annual meeting is held in May each year, due notice of which is published in the local paper, and any stockholder is welcome to attend and voice his opinion as to the conduct of affairs and vote for trustees to represent him. It is a matter of regret that in the past fourteen years, but one person has attended an annual meeting. This undoubtedly means it may be construed as a vote of confidence.

At this meeting a complete financial report is presented and plans for the ensuing year are presented. The election of trustees to fill vacancies caused by expiring terms follows. Then comes the organization of the new board of trustees with the election of a president and secretary-treasurer, the only officers.

These trustees serve without pay, considering it a civic duty, with the exception of the secretary, who draws at the present time a salary of $100 a year for his work in keeping records, selling lots and spaces, laying out graves, supervising caretaker's work and answering innumerable questions regarding former interments and other matters. No other salaries are paid except sexton's fees and caretaker's wages.

In 1933, after the death of E. N. Berbecker, who was the active member of the board, a representative body of stockholders met and elected a new board, two of which are still members. The subsequent additions were elected to fill vacancies caused by death or removals to other places. An enormous amount of work confronted this new board.

A new survey was made, individually numbered concrete markers were placed at each corner of each lot, obsolete obsolete stone copings surrounding lots were removed, with owner's permission, and a systematic search of record of interments, which took 12 years to complete, was begun.

In addition each lot is plotted accurately with exact measurements of all monuments in relation to lot lines recorded. It is a matter of pride that in all probability there are not more than twenty graves where the name and exact location are unknown, out of a total of approximately 1,100. Keeping an accurate record in the future should be simple. The big work is all done.

There has been much criticism in the past regarding "Perpetual Care Funds" held in trust by cemetery authorities and the matter has been under investigation for about three years by the attorney general, with the result that there is now a statute requiring all religious, fraternal and municipal, to furnish a complete financial report for the past ten years, and each year hereafter, showing the source, amount and disposition of care funds.

Failure to do so means the denial of a state license to accept such funds. Out of 7000 cemeteries in this class, in Illinois, less than 2000 have reported. We take pride in announcing that we have reported satisfactorily and have received license No. 180.

The object of this brief history is to acquaint members of the association and the general public with the tremendous

Hold services for Gold Star this Saturday

The body of Raymond Kenneth Hartmann, EM 1/c, of Roselle, has been returned to the United States and final burial services will be held Saturday, September 4, from Karstens-Fairbanks funeral home, Arlington Heights, at 2 p. m.

Interment will be at Lake Street Memorial park cemetery, Elgin, with Rev. William F. Juede officiating.

The gold star, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hartmann, Roselle, was graduated from Elgin high school in 1940 and enlisted in the navy on May 18, 1942. After basic training at Great Lakes, he received additional instruction at Purdue university, Norfolk and Solomons Branch, Maryland, and was sent overseas in July 1943, on an LST ship.

He was killed in enemy action October 20, 1944, aboard an LST in the invasion of Leyte. He was buried in the US military cemetery on Leyte island.

amount of work it has taken to get affairs in their present satisfactory condition to impress residents of Arlington Heights and vicinity with the permanent character of this institution.

If it has run 110 years once, it can do it again. All it needs is interest on the part of its members, new trustees from time to time, and honesty in administering a sacred trust.

Parcel post to take to the air

The advent of speedier nationwide—worldwide air parcel post service September 1 brings back to minds of old timers the introduction of similar surface operations 35 years ago. It was in 1913 that parcel post first made its appearance in the United States.

The service at that time was established primarily to aid farmers and hamlets, located off the beaten paths, in expediting their products to market and, in turn, receiving sorely needed goods from larger cities. However, mail order houses and other establishments were quick to realize its value.

Transportation facilities in those days were still slow and tedious. Motor-driven vehicles were few and the roads which they traversed were frequently impassable. Too, trains were giving off more sparks and smoke than speed. There were no commercial planes in those days, either, and only the foolhardy visioned the rapid approach of this Air Age.

THEN IT TOOK days to transport parcel post packages across the country. Some parcels were forced to go by virtually every movable conveyance before they reached their destination—particularly to the more remote sectors.

From that modest beginning, parcel post has grown to become an integral cog in the far-flung American postal operations. Its annual postage, keeping step with the progress of transportation, has soared from a few million to billions of pounds of assorted commodities.

Still determined to employ the fastest means of transportation to move the mails, the Post Office Department will add the link necessary to give the United States the world's most highly specialized doorstep delivery service with the launching of the new nationwide—worldwide air parcel post.

SUES FOR LUNCH

Charles Jalling, has sued Charles and Jeanne Werner, doing business as the Snow White Place in the Circuit court for $20,000 damages for alleged breach of contract. Last year he ran a lunch stand they owned at Higgins and Rand roads in Des Plaines. He alleges that they agreed to let him have it again during the winter. He says he inspected the place during the winter and made some repairs. On April 1 he was given notice that the stand would not be rented to him for this season. Jalling claims he has been damaged $10,000 by breach of contract and another $10,000 through being kept idle from November to July 1.

Plan Republican luncheon, card party

General chairman

Mrs. Florence Luckner, Elk Grove township; Mrs. Helen Moeller, Schaumburg twp.; Mrs. Elnora Foster, Palatine twp.; and Mrs. Geo. Hieber, Wheeling twp., are on the arrangement committee for the second annual luncheon and card party given by the 30 Country Towns' Republican Committee on September 9, in the Marine Dining Room of the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Over 1500 women expected to attend will be delighted with the red, white and blue elephant favors, all hand made by the decoration committee.

A unique program has been arranged by program chairman, Mrs. Analou Merkle, of Norwood Park township, after which games will be played and gifts given to every lady present.

Guests of honor will include Gov. Dewey, Gov. Warren, Senator Brooks, Gov. Green, National Committeewoman, Mrs. Bertha Baur, National Committeewoman, Mrs. Helen Griffin; County Committeewoman, Mrs. Irene Reidy; State Senator Arthur J. Bidwill and the County Commissioners.

Mrs. Nora Johnson, Proviso township is general chairman of committees assisted by Mrs. Martin Strand of Bloom Township.

Mount Prospect Fall Festival next week

There are few communities that go as far as does Mt. Prospect in making its annual festival as representative of the farm and the home. There are always found the best in products of the garden, the kitchen and the sewing room to be on display, local merchants exhibit the products that they handle.

This year, in one large tent, 80x200 feet, will be found all of these exhibits worthy of an hour or more of the visitor's time. Those participating in these exhibits do not do so merely from a competitive standpoint. They are making their displays in civic pride, in an effort to show what the people of Mt. Prospect can and are doing.

ENTERTAINMENT is also unusual. The festival starts Wednesday night, but the special entertainment features begin Thursday night starting each evening at 7:30.

Sept. 9, Bill Baird and Florence Manners will entertain with mental suggestion, mind reading with audience participation. You will wonder how they do it.

Friday night Gene Fields, comedian, mimic and impersonator will provide many a laugh. Doris Bey, contortionist will add to the program.

WILLY NECKER'S famous dog show is the big attraction Saturday night, while Sunday night Mary Kay, accordionist, and Freddy Stritt, comedian, will do the entertaining. A special number is being sponsored by the boy scouts.

Customary festival games, a whole dozen of them, will be able to handle the crowds who enjoy such features. The entire net proceeds will be used to buy the 16 acre park that the Lions club is presenting to Mt. Prospect.

Choral society to meet at schoolhouse

The Prospect Heights Choral Society will resume its regular Monday evening rehearsals at the schoolhouse beginning September 13, according to Melvin H. Kritsch, president of the chorists.

During the past few weeks the group met at the residence of its director, Mrs. Phyllis Snetting, in Arlington Heights. Meetings have been well attended and a most enthusiastic membership will elect its 1948-49 officers at the September 13 meeting. Because of the holiday there will be no meeting next Monday.

Last Monday evening, following rehearsal, the group gathered in front of Daniel Heit and serenaded the former Ada Heit, a member, who recently married Raymond Murphy. They sang two songs with accordion accompaniment and then moved on to the Lunch Bar for refreshments.

Police 'bag' 324 slot machines in county drive

Sheriff Walsh's office reported Friday that Cook county highway police have confiscated 324 slot machines in the county this year, but federal licenses issued for the one-armed bandits totaled only 300.

Working from government lists, highway police crackdowns netted 213 arrests in 213 raids. Many of the raids, the sheriff said, were made against places for gambling in other than slot machines. Two hundred nine court convictions resulted from the raids.

Last March 16, Walsh declared, he obtained names of owners of the slots from the Collector of Internal Revenue John T. Jarecki and a checkup by highway police followed.

"Many of the addresses of licensees turned out to be private clubs and other such organizations," Walsh commented, "but the names and addresses of other owners were found to be false, with addresses in vacant lots, groceries and drug stores." Walsh has 109 deputies to patrol 932 square miles in the county area.

He urged local police departments in incorporated areas to step up the drive on gambling, and pointed to Cicero, said the town has more men on its police force than he has.

"The Cook county highway deputies don't enter incorporated areas except on specific complaints," Walsh explained. He added he has requested a new listing of slot machine licensees so that Chief Albert H. Johnson can direct deputies to further efforts at keeping gambling from the county areas.

Planting Fruit Trees

In planting fruit trees, ample space should be left between the trees. At least 20 feet will be needed between plums and 30 feet should be left between apple trees.

It's no fish story; 32 lb. prize Muskies brought home as proof

One of three Arlington Heights fishermen, on a two-week trip to Flambeau Flowage, Park Falls, Wisconsin, returned with one of the season's prize catches, a 32½ lb. Muskies, 52 inches long, which he caught on a 12 lb. test line.

The victorious fisherman is Packy Johnson, and his catch is the largest ever hauled in in that region this year. It also is the largest fish he has ever caught in his years of fishing experience.

"It's no fish story," Virgil Rolfs and Frank Shaw, who accompanied Johnson, stated. "The fish gave him a thirty-minute battle, but Packy won." According to the witnesses, a fish that size is ordinarily caught on a 30 lb. line.

The lucky hunter will have the fish mounted, and it will be the first trophy in his collection. The three vacationists found fishing fine in other respects, also, and brought home Northern bass and wall-eye pike for their friends.

American Shipping

At the close of the war American shipping had reached 37 million gross tons, three-fifths of the world total.

Make this Labor Day a holiday from the kitchen too!

Labor Day will soon be here! Dad will have an extra long weekend for loafing, and the youngsters will be earnestly enjoying their last few days of freedom before school starts.

MOTHER should be enjoying this Labor Day weekend, too. It's no longer necessary for her to spend hours in the kitchen preparing a meal. On holidays, plan your meals from the large variety of cans and packages of easy-to-fix, delicious, tempting, wholesome foods on your grocer's shelves.—And then you'll get a holiday too!

Dedicate new organ at St. John church

Dedication services for the new organ will be held September 12 at St. John Evangelical and Reformed church, corner of St. James and Evergreen streets, Arlington Heights. The organ will be dedicated at the regular morning worship service at 10:30 a. m.

Fred Buehler, regular church organist, will play for the organ recital at 7:45 p. m. Refreshments will be served after the evening service.

The public is invited to attend both services. Further details will appear in next week's paper.

Forgive us our errors

Marge Flanders, advertising, and Vera Folkman, society editor, are California-bound this week and won't be back 'til September 20.

Meanwhile, the rest of the office force is feverishly trying to do a reasonable job of substiting in their departments, which may explain the reason for the two-item club calendar this week.

The vacation-jant came to one of several climaxes this week when Mrs. Folkman called the Herald office Tuesday night and asked for Marge.

"She's not here," the surprised reporter replied. "Vera and Marge are out West, aren't they?"

The two newspaper gals are traveling with Miss Lillian Plasse, of Arlington Heights National bank.

Guild meets

The St. James Episcopal Church Evening Guild met at the residence of its president, Mrs. Curtis H. Parsons last Thursday evening. The women laid plans for their potluck dinner to be held at St. John's Saturday evening, September 11. Prospect Heights is well represented in the Guild membership. Mrs. Allan Armstrong is chairman of the service committee and Mrs. Robert George is a member. Mrs. Wilfred B. Colmar serves on the ways and means committee and Mrs. Curtiss A. Dahl on publicity.

Former Heights sisters model in Oklahoma

Ginger and Carol Forrest, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Forrest, formerly of Arlington Heights, now of Tulsa, Oklahoma, were among the girls modeling "back to school" clothes at the Brown Dunkin store in Tulsa.

Both girls did modeling while living in Arlington Heights, being photographers models as well as clothes models.

Carol recently won the Child of the Week contest, sponsored by the Rivkin studio in Tulsa.

North, South schools need cafeteria help

North and South school cafeterias in Arlington Heights will open the first day of school, September 7. Dieticians need more help to run both cafeterias efficiently.

Mothers are urged to call Mrs. Mark Cleaver, 1403, for South school, and Mrs. Arden Scott, 277, for North school to volunteer for this worthwhile work one morning a month, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon.

Call now and select your time to aid this project for boys and girls.

Miss Ruth Wiehrdt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wiehrdt, Palatine, became the bride of Francis Muehlheid, son of Mrs. Walter C. Fiene, of Arlington Heights, on Saturday, August 28. The evening ceremony was performed at Immanuel Lutheran church with Rev. W. Koester officiating.

Wheeling woman weds county policeman

Marriage vows were exchanged last week by Lt. Fred Horton, head of the Cook County Sheriff's Highway police district at Morton Grove, and Miss Ethel Reeb, of Wheeling.

Justice of the Peace Milton H. Tuttle performed the ceremonies at his home, 910 Hollywood, Des Plaines.

Miss Reeb is manager of a drug store, at Deerfield.

Her husband, a veteran of both wars, was a major in command of the military police detachment in Chicago during the recent war.

The couple will make their home at Lt. Horton's residence at 7808 South Shore drive.

Gladys Kleiner engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Kleiner, of Arlington Heights, announced the engagement of their daughter, Gladys, last week end to Lloyd Duzell, of Arlington Heights. The wedding will take place Saturday, September 11.

'September Shuffle'

The Young People's club of St. James church, Arlington Heights, will sponsor a dance Saturday, September 11, at St. James school hall. Music for the dance, called "September Shuffle," will be furnished by a 16-piece dance band, "Musical Marians."

Refreshments will be served. The dance starts at 8 p. m. Tickets are $1 per couple and 75 cents stag, and can be purchased at the door.

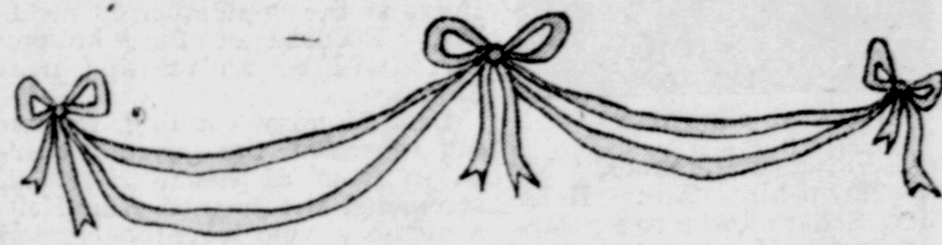

Stork Feathers

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krefl, 204 West Fremont, Arlington Heights, are the proud parents of a daughter, Nancy, who was born August 21 at the Elmhurst hospital. Nancy tipped the scales at 6 pounds 5 ounces. She has a sister, Karen, 6, and a brother, Roger, 10, who enjoy taking care of her.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Brems, 133 Oakwood drive, Wood Dale, are the proud parents of a boy born August 25 at DuPage Memorial hospital, Elmhurst. The baby, Frederick E., weighed 9 pounds, 9½ ounces.

Crystal Lake picnic

A picnic and swimming party given by P. K. Ladas, of Arlington Restaurant for his employees and their families at Crystal Lake on Monday, August 30, was enjoyed by fifteen people.

The day was pleasant and the group had a wonderful holiday. Two of the ladies had such a good time they took a dip in Crystal Lake in their slacks.

At the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. Don Johnson, Patty and Peter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Murphy of Prospect Heights, Misses Carol and Rosemary Engels of Palanoid Park, Mrs. Esther Hill, David Lynk, Nick Domineck, Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Ladas and Zeno and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ladas.

Alice Ortegel engaged

Recently married in Riverside, California, were Miss Lois Muriel Eich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Eich, 141 Park Lane, Arlington Heights, and Robert W. Burrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Burrow, of Desert Hot Springs, California. Miss Joan Dearie, of Arlington Heights, was maid of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ortegel, of Dundee road, Wheeling, announce the engagement of their daughter, Alice, to Frank Orlandini, 1445 Shermer avenue, Northbrook. No date has been set for the wedding.

Arline Arnold, Pennsylvanian Say 'I Do'

Saturday evening August 21, Miss Arline Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Arnold of Palatine, became the bride of Donald Gray, son of Mrs. Finley Benson, of Wellsboro, Penn.

Rev. Glenn G. Gumm, of St. Paul's church, in Palatine, read the single ring service at the Arnold home, 338 N. Benton, Palatine.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. Harriet M. Carpenter, of Providence, Rhode Island, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Lawrence Gray, brother of the groom was best man.

The bride wore a powder blue dress with white satin accessories and a corsage and a halo of white roses. The matron of honor, whose royal blue dress had gold accessories, wore a yellow corsage.

Out-of-town guests were the groom's family, Mrs. Benson, her daughter June, and her son Lawrence.

After the ceremony guests assembled in the summer house which was decorated with gaily colored streamers and colored lights. A four tiered wedding cake centered the buffet table. Guests enjoyed a buffet lunch and recorded music.

Ada Helt bride of Dee Murphy

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel W. Helt of Prospect Heights announce the marriage of their daughter, Ada, to Ray Murphy of Arlington Heights.

The ceremony took place at the City Hall, Chicago, August 21, and Mr. and Mrs. Helt served as the couple's only attendants.

After the services the bridal party enjoyed dinner at the Knickerbocker hotel, Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were guests of honor at a dinner Sunday at the home of the bride's parents.

The newlyweds will make their home with the bride's parents for the present, and will move to Arlington Heights as soon as an apartment is available.

A double-ring ceremony performed recently at South church, Mt. Prospect, united in marriage Miss Peggy Boatright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean D. Boatright, of Morton Grove, and Joseph A. Staudenbauer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Staudenbauer Sr., of Mt. Prospect.

Legion auxiliary notes

The old year ends and the new year begins for the American Legion Auxiliary with the ending of the department convention.

The 1948 convention will be held in Chicago September 10 to 13 inclusive.

The meeting to be held at Legion hall Tuesday evening, September 7, will be the last of the year. To help the membership chairman, members are asked to attend the meeting and pay their dues.

Merle Holtz, Eleanor Taylor, Millie Russel, and Irene Wiedner went to work at Vaughn hospital Wednesday, August 11, and took as treats cigarettes, cookies, and big juicy peaches.

Mrs. Ella Boeger leaves Arlington

Mrs. Ella Boeger, who has lived in Arlington Heights all her life, left Tuesday by plane for Los Angeles, California, to be with her only son Ray and his family. She will make her home with them in the future.

When the home in which she lived was sold, she sold all her personal possessions also. She had been living alone for approximately six months.

Following an illness twelve years ago, she was unable to walk for some time, but gradually managed to get around with the help of a cane.

Mrs. Boeger also has one daughter who does not live in Arlington Heights.

Carol Wiehrdt weds George A. Cramer

Miss Carol Wiehrdt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Wiehrdt, 138 E. Chicago ave., Palatine, became the bride of George A. Cramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Cramer, Palatine, on Sunday, August 29.

The couple took their vows before the gladioli-decked altar of St. Paul Evangelical and Reformed church.

Ernest J. Wiehrdt, the bride's father, gave his daughter in marriage. Rev. Glenn G. Gumm performed the ceremony. Harold Berg, organist, played the wedding music.

The bride wore a silver-grey satin street length dress, complimented by a veiled pink felt hat trimmed with ostrich tips and black accessories. She carried a mull of pink gladioli and baby's breath.

Miss Mary Langhorne, maid of honor, wore an aqua street length dress, a brown velvet hat trimmed with aqua ostrich tips, and brown accessories. She carried yellow gladioli with baby's breath. William A. Stephan, Palatine, was best man.

The bride's mother wore a white and brown print dress with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

The groom's mother wore a pink dress with black accessories, and a corsage of gardenias. The groom's grandmother wore green crepe with black accessories, and a corsage of gardenias.

Following the ceremony, open house was held at the bride's home. Dinner for the wedding party was served at Plentywood Farm, Bensenville, for the immediate families and close friends of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Cramer will be at home at 142 W. Slade street, Palatine, after September 5, following their return from a week's honeymoon in Wisconsin.

Janet Findley, Indiana man are married

Added to the list of the month's brides yesterday at 4 o'clock was Miss Janet Findley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Scott Findley, 1201 South Center ave., Bensenville who was married to Ray Atkinson, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Atkinson, of Michigan City, Ind.

Dr. Clarence W. Adams officiated at the ceremony read in the First Presbyterian church before 150 guests. The background was woodwaria ferns and baskets of white gladioli.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was gowned in a white satin wedding dress made with sheer yoke edged with selftrim of satin, fitted bodice shirred at the waist and trimmed with bustle back. The skirt fell into a chapel train. Her sheer veil was held with a band of heirloom pearls. She carried white gladioli and gardenias.

In Pink Taffeta

The maid of honor, Miss Karline Work, Pittsburg, Pa., college roommate of the bride, wore a pink faille taffeta dress made with off-the-shoulder ruffle and full skirt. Miss Barbara Atkinson, Michigan City, Ind., was in lavender faille taffeta made like Miss Work's, the former carrying lavender gladioli and the latter having pink in her bouquet. They wore matching garlands in their hair.

Mrs. Findley, mother of the bride, wore grey crepe, and Mrs. Atkinson, mother of the groom, wore pink-colored crepe. Their corsages were of gladioli and roses.

R. E. Atkinson, sr., was best man for his son. Seating the guests were Charles and Robert Daggett, both of Arlington Hts., Ill., cousins of the bridegroom and James C. Shields of Des Moines, Iowa.

In the church parlors where the reception was held a tiered wedding cake surrounded with smilax centered the table. Pink and lavender gladioli completed the decorations.

Miss Virginia Wyatt, Glenview, Ill., school friend of the bride, and Mrs. W. L. Lee, Salt Lake City, Utah, served the cake. Mrs. W. H. T. Foster, Sioux Falls, and Miss Ethel Whitenack, Marshalltown, Ia., aunt of the groom, poured at the reception.

Mrs. S. S. Steiber was organist, and Miss Janice Johnson sang "O Perfect Love" and "I Love You Truly."

To Live in Monmouth

After the reception the couple went to the lakes in northern Minnesota on their honeymoon.

The bride wore a kelly green gabardine suit with grey accessories for her going away outfit.

The bride is a graduate of Monmouth college, Monmouth, Ill., and held a position with the Houghton Mifflin book publishers, in Chicago. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and P. E. O. Mr. Atkinson is a senior at Monmouth college and is a member of Theta Chi fraternity. When the couple returns to Monmouth, their home address will be 516 North Ninth st.

Hijacking Increases

Hundreds of trucks will be way-laid and their cargoes stolen by hijackers this year. Highway robbery is on the increase. Losses for 1947 alone are estimated by trucking authorities to have been considerably greater than 25 million dollars. Peak hijacking year was 1945, when critical wartime shortages made nearly every big truck cargo a tempting prize.

Art Klankes to visit family in Germany

Mr. and Mrs. Art Klankes, 201 N. Fremont, Palatine, will leave by train on September 2 for New York, where they will take a plane the following day for Europe.

They will arrive in London on September 4, where they will stay overnight. The following day they will fly to Hamburg, where they will be met by a brother of Mrs. Klankes.

Mr. Klankes's father, who resides at Wilhelmshaven, near Hamburg, is still alive. Mrs. Klankes also has relatives in Germany. The Klankes left Germany for the United States in 1924, and their last visit to Germany was in 1929.

Enlistments reopened by National Guard

The 228th Infantry Regiment which is being organized in the west and northwest suburbs has announced that it can now accept new members. All veterans who have had 90 days or more service and less than 12 months service during World War II may now become members of this regiment.

At the present time six units are organized in the western communities including Villa Park, Wheaton, Oak Park, LaGrange, Hinsdale, and Downers Grove. Four additional units are ready for activation as soon as the negotiations for housing facilities can be completed.

All veterans in this category who are interested in becoming a member of this new regiment are encouraged to contact the local units noted above or get in touch with their local veteran organizations.

It is easy to exhibit at Mt. Prospect Festival

Exhibition at Mt. Prospect Fall Festival is open to every resident in the Mt. Prospect area. In order that possible exhibitors may learn how easy it is done, this paper is publishing a resume of possible exhibits that are requested.

Chairmen are Fred Meeske, horticulture; Mrs. Stephen Kline, flowers; Mrs. Walter Kirchhoff, needlework and home canning.

SHOWING—one's finest produce is the best part of any fair. Schedule of contest classes has been specially designed to give all an opportunity to enter. Farmers and gardeners in town are asked to show the best of their crops.

All varieties of flowers may be entered in the specimen classes. Judges for specimens and artistic arrangements are chosen from qualified list of the Garden club of Illinois.

Special note is made of the fact that gladiolus will be entered and judged under rules of the Illinois Gladiolus society.

MRS. WALTER KIRCHHOFF, in charge of needlecraft and home canning announces judges will be well versed in home arts. One jar each of any variety of home canned foods may be entered. All jars should be properly labeled.

Sewing, embroidery, knitting, crocheting, quilts and any other handicraft may be entered in the needlecraft division.

"We have more space in this large tent for exhibits," said Fred Meeske. "We hope enough people will enter to fill every bit of the space. We have lots of ribbons to award."

All entries for judging must be in place by noon Wednesday, September 8. Judging will commence at 2 p. m. and the show will be open to the public in the evening. Complete schedule and rules appear in this issue.

ELIGIBILITY—Everyone is invited to exhibit. An individual or family may enter only one exhibit in any one class, but may enter as many classes as desired. Professional exhibits will be entered in separate classes.

Entries—All entries for judging must be in place by 12:00 noon, September 8. Late entries may be displayed but must be marked "not for competition."

Awards—Ribbons: Blue for first; red for second; white for third; light blue for honorable mention. Decision of the judges shall be final. Exhibits are judged, not against each other, but against perfection. Judges may award ribbons at their discretion.

Containers—Containers will be supplied for all specimen flowers, fruit and vegetables. Containers or vases brought with arrangements should be properly marked for identification and must be called for by exhibitor.

REDWINGS TO OPEN PLAYOFF VS WOODSTOCK THIS SUNDAY

Oak Park, North Chicago also in title series

The Northeast Illinois Baseball League playoffs for the League Championship will begin next Sunday. Four teams, the Arlington Redwings, Woodstock, Oak Park and North Chicago, will play two semi-final games, with the winners playing a best two out of three games for the title.

Woodstock, winners of the league schedule, will play the Arlington Redwings here in Recreation Park. The Redwings placed third in the league play. The winner will qualify to play the victor of the North Chicago-Oak Park tilt which will be played at North Chicago according to present plans.

THE REDWINGS, who have played a good and bad assortment of baseball during the season, will be up against tough opposition. Jack Brumm will start on the mound with Gaere behind the plate. George Schaefer with four weeks rest will be ready to step in Brumm's place if the visitors become too aggressive in the run making department.

Woodstock, third place winner in the recent Illinois State Baseball Tournament at Elgin, is well loaded with talent, which accounts for their 8 wins and 1 loss in the league schedule. Most famous player in their lineup will be Guy Curtright, who for several years played center field for the Chicago White Sox. He will probably be at first base Sunday. What can Brumm and Schaefer do against the ex-major league star? Be there to see what happens.

The last time a major league player appeared locally was several years ago when Don Kolloway of the White Sox played with the Camp Grant team. He failed to get a hit off Schaefer. Prior to that, Delby, now a negro star of the Cleveland Indians played here with the Great Lakes negro team. The score book credited him with one hit.

DON BLANKEN, famous basketball star and baseball pitcher at Purdue from 1941-44 and now a member of the Dayton, Ohio professional basketball team, will pitch for Woodstock. Johnson, selected as the all star catcher of the Elgin Tournament will be behind the plate. Manager Bob Woods, with a six year minor league career will be at shortstop.

The Redwings warmed up against the Chicago Firemen last Sunday with an 11-9 win. Trailing 8-1 early in the game and then behind 8-6 in the eighth, the local boys produced a surprising 5 run rally aided by Earl Simpson's three base hit and climaxed by Art Schiewe steals of home by Art Schiewe and Wally Olenik. The thefts were made on consecutive pitches to Jack Brumm who was the batter at the time. Spectators and the firemen were completely surprised by the maneuver which finally turned out to be the winning margin.

There was considerable pressure exerted to have the Redwing-Woodstock game played at Woodstock, but manager Ed Wahl finally persuaded Woodstock to appear here instead. Special financial concessions had to be made and it is necessary to request a 50c per person contribution to meet expenses.

THIS WILL BE an exciting game because each team must win to get into the title series. Woodstock will have a rooting delegation on hand so it is up to Redwing boosters to the local boys in their baseball efforts Sunday at the usual time—3:00 o'clock.

Turf Billiards to play this Sunday in Libertyville tourney

The Turf Billiards softball team, strongest club in the Arlington Heights area, is expected to be one of the top-flight teams in the second annual Northeastern Illinois softball tournament at Memorial Field in Libertyville.

The Arlington team opens play Sunday evening at 8:15 p.m. against the Niles AC and if victorious will play again at 9 p.m. on Friday, September 10, probably meeting the fast Plato Center Merchants from Kane County who feature Don Blanken in their lineup. Blanken is a former all-America athlete from Purdue University.

The Riviera team from Arlington Heights is also entered in the tourney and opens play on Friday evening, Sept. 8, at 7 p.m. against the Northside AC of Waukegan.

Visiting fans and players will be assured of every convenience at Memorial Field with fine seating arrangements, a modern scoreboard to keep them informed of every play, fine lighting facilities and tasty refreshments.

NU opens football practice with hopes

Northwestern university launched preparations for its 63rd football season and its second under Coach Bob Voight when a squad of 55 players reported at Dyche stadium for the first practice, Wednesday, September 1.

The group invited back for the opening drill includes 26 major lettermen, five minor lettermen and 24 sophomores. The squad will be augmented by additional players upon the opening of school, September 27.

Coach Voight is confronted with a number of pressing problems not the least of which is readying his boys for key contests early in the season. After opening with UCLA in Los Angeles, September 25, Northwestern faces three leading Big Nine title contenders, Purdue, Minnesota and Michigan, in a row.

Bears to open at Wrigley Field this Sunday

Chicago Bears are pointing this week for Sunday's army benefit game against Boston at Wrigley Field. The Bruins have notched two exhibition victories to date, and are pointing for their third against the Yanks.

Thus far, Sid Luckman has been directing offensive actions of the team until the opponents were on the short end of the score. Then Bobby Layne has been given experience at the quarterback post but hasn't gained too many laurels to date.

It all boils down to prove that the top college star has plenty to learn when stepping into professional ranks.

KICKOFF time is slated for 2 p.m. at Wrigley Field, with Luckman possibly being unveiled for the first time as a pro gridder. Johnny's ankle still isn't back to normal after the all-star fracas.

Among the 17 frosh on the Bears squad, in addition to Layne, Luckman and Connor, is Allen Lawler, mangled sprinter from the University of Texas. Lawler holds the National Junior 100 yard record and has been officially timed at 9.4.

Bear followers are also anxious to get their first glimpse of Dick Flanagan, 21 year old youngster from Ohio State, plus such other rookies as Washington Serini, Bruno Opela, Glenn Whitner and Joe Abbey.

Grid hopefuls don pads this week at Heights

Fifty-six varsity football hopefuls are now going through their paces for Head Coach Curtis Larsen and coach Gene Bell at Arlington Heights high school with the boys donning the pads for the first time this week.

Cardinal hopefuls have been getting in shape ever since August 25, the legal opening date, but hot weather prevented use of anything heavier than shorts. Getting in condition has been stressed to date, with pads and other equipment donned the middle of this week.

Coach Larsen has instigated separate sessions for backs and linemen. First scrimmage will be held this Saturday.

PLANS FOR carrying 26 boys on the road, and having 33 dress at home have been made by the coaching staff. New white jerseys for the home contests have been acquired.

First game on the schedule calls for Barrington September 17.

Newest addition to the playing field is a 45 foot flagpole ordered by the "A" club. Delivery depends upon acquisition of steel.

Arlington frosh card 6 games

Frosh grid hopefuls at Arlington Heights high school are slated to report for action this Friday, September 3, before coaches Conrad and Cramer. A six game schedule has been set up for the frosh, while the frosh-soph eleven will play preliminary contests to each varsity tilt.

Last year's Cardinal yearling squad was a particularly heavy one, averaging 175 pounds. Eight games were played last season, with six games on the slate for 1948.

COMPLETE lineup has not been announced, but will include Niles, Leyden, Libertyville and Bensenville.

A few of the bigger frosh will play with the frosh-soph squad. Most of the sophomores have already received equipment, and have been working out with the varsity.

Coach Cramer will lead the frosh-sophs, while Coach Conrad will mentor the frosh team.

tion at Corpus Christi high school in Bloomington. Gene Vance and Andy Phillip, with the Chicago Stags, and Jack Smiley, with the Zollners, are members of the famed Illinois five still playing pro ball.

Bergstrom moves up to Bradley Tech football post

Art Bergstrom, who burned up the Northeast conference for several seasons in a row while coaching football at Libertyville high, has really advanced in two years. Last season he left Libertyville and coached Decatur to one of their best seasons. This year he has been promoted to head football coach at Bradley Tech University. Bergstrom is a fine coach and a swell fellow. We are happy to learn of his success.

New league formed

A new conference of five schools whose first letter put together spells SHARK, has been organized west of this area. South Beloit, Harlem, Aquin of Freeport, Hononegah of Rockton, and Kirkland form the new loop.

LaGrange expected to be number one grid team in state

There were 13 undefeated football teams in Illinois last season. Of this number only LaGrange is expected to repeat. Coach Chuck Bennett has 18 lettermen at LaGrange and this number includes some all league performers. Bennett's own son is expected to be one of the leading backs. LaGrange opens the season September 17 against Oak Park, annually one of the best in Illinois. Oak Park has a new coach in Ross Anderson who formerly coached ends at Illinois and was at one time coach at Kewanee.

In the big Suburban league they are picking New Trier to win the championship and break Oak Park's string.

Simmons par round sparks Bowling Lanes in golf league

Ernie Simmons shot a par round of 35 to help the Bowling Lanes take 7 points from Hartman's Shoe Store, in Arlington Heights golf league. Eddie's Liquors took 4 1/2 points from Mar Johnson and Voss Food Shop took 5 1/2 from Drewes Electric, to maintain their respective positions of first and second. Gene Hugo alternating for Kitty Korner had the low net score of 31.

The election of officers was held and the following men were elected: Pres. R. Kalteux; vicepres. L. Arnold; rules committee, B. McKaig; secretary, K. Fuhr; treasurer, T. Felker.

Top stake events at Aurora track

Three top stake events, two for trotters and the other for pacers following Wednesday's opening stake, the $1,750 Hotel Assn's Pace, will headline Aurora Downs' first week of harness racing. The sport, which had a month's layoff for Chicago fans during August, got off to a flying start on Wednesday, as one of the biggest opening night crowds in Aurora Downs' three year old history jammed into the Kane County track.

Included in the week's program are the $1,750 Inaugural Trot on Friday, Sept. 3; the $1,500 Fox Valley Pace on Saturday, Sept. 4; and the $1,500 Batavia Trot on Wednesday, Sept. 8. Each stake will be the featured event on the evening's card of eight races. Each will be offered as a divided affair with the starters traveling over the six-and-one-half furlong and the mile routes.

Stan Miasek signs Chicago Stag contract

Stan Miasek, a key figure in the operations of the Chicago Stags, today agreed to terms for another season of professional basketball. The New York boy, who in two seasons of play in the B. A. A. has scored 1,611 points, will undoubtedly be shifted from center to forward this year because of the Stags acquisition of Ed Mikan and George Weber, a pair of giant pivot men.

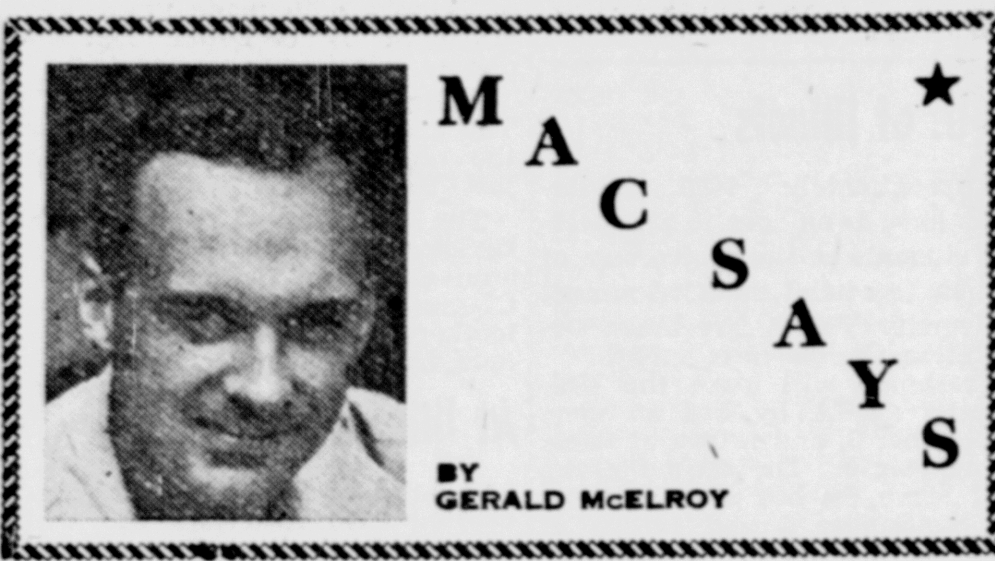

Miasek, 6'4", never played college basketball but established himself as a star in his first year of professional play with the Detroit Falcons. He was picked up last year by Chicago, when Detroit dropped from the league, and proceeded to match his 14.9 per game scoring average of a year previous. Last year he was selected to the all league second team, only a step behind Ed Sadowski, former Boston Celtic center. Miasek's 716 points and 31 assists placed him fifth in the circuit in individual scoring last year. He is 24 years old and weighs 205 lbs.

Sky Queen contest entries coming in Entries are pouring in for the Sky Queen contest to be held in connection with the International Air show and races on September 10-11-12 at the Chicago-Land Airport.

Lessons in flying and learning to become a pilot, as well as numerous other valuable prizes, are responsible for the increasing interest shown by young women all over the country.

The judging will be based on qualifications to become a flyer as well as looks and personality. The International Air show and races are being sponsored by World Air Shows, Inc. at 6 North Michigan avenue, Chicago 2.

If losing weight is a part of the football training program there should have been good results the past week in high school circles as the mercury hovered around the 100 mark. The weather has been much too hot for football practice but high school coaches who have games September 10 or 11 are racing against time and still have been having twice daily drills.

Palatine has in 60 candidates the greatest turnout by a wide margin in the history of the school. Only five are seniors, however and 27 are freshmen. Coach Welty does not have 22 upper classmen for his varsity squad and must dip into the sophomore class for a part of his squad.

Leyden scheduled suicide schedule with big schools

Down at Leyden Athletic Director Sam England says his school will not finish worse than third in the Northeast Conference (just three teams left there) but he expects a worse standing in the West Suburban. Leyden, out in the cold with the break up of the Northeast conference, has scheduled Riverside, York, Glenbard, and Downers Grove of the West Suburban; Elgin of the Big Eight; Bensenville, North-west defending co-champ; and Niles and Arlington, their abandoned pals of the Northeast. It is the toughest program Leyden has ever scheduled. With 10 lettermen available, Leyden will have about as good a team as that which split even in 1947, but what a different schedule to be played!

Leyden has the biggest football coaching staff of any school in our area with six men taking over. George Bujan is varsity coach with assistants in Tony Jurezic, Joe Monk, George Cox, Lou Granzin, and Warren Reitzel.

Every regular graduated at Niles

Niles, like Leyden, will field four teams, one from each high school class except Seniors with varsity representing these boys and the other top players in the school. Harold Isaacson will have the varsity, Charles Hussey, the juniors; Bob Mackey, the sophomores; and James Phipps, the freshmen. Niles has nine lettermen but lost every 1947 regular at last June's graduation.

Four backs and two ends return to bolster Warren

Warren, the school rated by this column to benefit most by the break up of the Northeast and formation of the North Suburban League, will have six lettermen in the odd combination of four backs and two ends. It is the nucleus for a fast tough team. If Coach John Ligon and assistant Verne Gohn can find a pair of big tough boys to stop the inside stuff, Warren should have a good ball club. Maurice DeLind, an all-Northeast conference halfback will be the key player in a strong offense. Warren plays no-league games at Palatine Saturday, September 18, and with Antioch at Gurnee on September 24.

Wildcats only outside game at Arlington Oct. 29
Libertyville's Wildcats, who have changed into the tame variety the past couple of years will play only one game outside the North Suburban League this year and that will be at Arlington on the night of October 29. A seven game schedule is the lightest yet scheduled by Libertyville. Chuck Haseman and Dave Dowden are Libertyville's only lettermen from a team which won two, lost five and tied one.

Grant should repeat with 17 letter winners on squad

Plan air show for next week end at Chicagoland port

The first major Air show and International races to be held in Chicago since 1941 is all set and scheduled to open on Friday, September 10. The show will continue through Saturday and Sunday afternoons, September 11 and 12. The location is the beautiful Chicagoland Airport, conveniently located three miles north of Wheeling on Milwaukee avenue.

Highlighting the many events of the day will be a hot air balloon ascension and parachute jump. The balloon, furnished by Claude L. Schafer of Indianapolis, will be deflated on the ground, then the huge bag will be placed over an open fire and filled with hot air. As it inflates and is released it will ascend, carrying with it Professor Bonnell, world-famous old-time aeronaut. When the Professor has reached a 7,000 foot height, he will invert the balloon, spilling out the hot air, and then parachute to earth. Another major event will feature Miss Betty Skelton of Tampa, Florida, who is the International Women's Acrobatic champion. She is the only girl in the country to pick up a ribbon from the tip of the wing of her plane, when barely six feet off the ground, and traveling at more than 120 miles per hour.

Another thriller will be a performance by "Suicide Jones" famous negro flyer who, in 1938, held the delayed parachute jump record of 28,668 feet before opening his chute.

New Use for Sugar

To most of us, sugar is just something sweeter than coffee, but to the chemist it has now become a finish for interior surfaces such as furniture, wall coverings and woodwork. Actually, the new sugar product is allyl sucrose. When allyl sucrose is exposed to the air it polymerizes—that is, it forms large molecules from the smaller ones and changes into an insoluble, infusible, transparent resin.

Handicap to end season Monday at Washington

The Washington Park meeting goes into its closing stages with two stakes left on the program during the last week end of racing. Edward Lasker's Pail of Water and Mrs. Albert Sabath's Alsab's Day will renew their duel in the juvenile filly division Saturday in the Princess Pat Stakes, which will carry a gross value of approximately $50,000. They will be challenged by a new development—Brownell Comb's Sequence. Chicago's summer racing season will close Labor Day with the running of the $50,000 Washington Park Handicap, for which Citation, Fervent, Colossal, and other star performers have been nominated.

The Princess Pat ranks with the Arlington Lassie stakes among the most important events for juvenile fillies run throughout the country. In the Lassie Stakes Pail of Water raced fairly close to the early pace, took the lead after entering the stretch and won by a length and a half. Meanwhile, Alsab's Day was far back in the early stages, moved up resolutely in the straightaway and caught everything but the winner. This daughter of Alsab has shown some of the qualities of her famous sire who was so popular among Chicago racing followers in the early 1940's. Sequence, a daughter of Count Fleet and Miss Dogwood, has been very impressive in two victories in her only two starts.

The nominees for the Washington Park Handicap include the winners of all the major events for three year olds and up at a mile or more which have been run during Chicago's summer season. Fervent won the Equipoise Mile; Citation tied the track record in the Stars and Stripes Handicap; Stud Poker led the way home in the Arlington Handicap; Colossal set a track record in the Whirlaway Stakes, and Star Reward won the Sheridan Handicap.

Off-season hunters tracked down by land, sea, air

Shooting out of season will be pretty rough for Illinois hunters beginning this autumn.

State conservation officers reported this week they will have two radio-equipped airplanes from the federal fish and wildlife service to work with their cars, boats and field men in spotting out-of-season hunters. Conservation Director Livingston E. Osborne said tests made in a 12-mile area have proved fast, efficient. A hunter who fired one shot in the area, was detected by a plane which radioed the location to six patrol cars and three field men. Twelve minutes later the test hunter was trapped.

The air-ground-water patrols are set to operate over the entire state beginning in October, Livingston said, just before the duck season opens October 29.

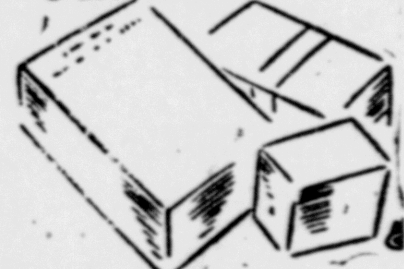

More planes for the special service already are lined up. Several Illinois sportsmen have offered the use of their private aircraft, and the department said it was willing to accept more volunteer offers.

The patrols will concentrate attention in the Mississippi and Illinois river areas before the duck season and during it, and in Chicagoland and other upland areas before and during the pheasant, quail and rabbit season which starts November 11.

"Dry Shooting"

Form of shooting practice which is of great value to the individual and which can be brought into play almost anywhere and at any time is known as "dry shooting." It merely consists of simulated firing with an empty gun. This sort of practice is really a "must" for the beginner, and the seasoned gunner quite often brushes up on his gun handling through this method.

Opine outboard has no effect on fish

Does the modern outboard motor have any effect on fish life—and recreational fishing? This as well as other pertinent questions have been debated by sportsmen since the first outboard motor was invented. Theory after theory has since been advanced with no one left any wiser. With little factual data available, neither side of these theories has been exploded into concrete fact.

Efforts recently made by the Outboard Boating Club of America to secure data with which to form a policy for fishing from outboards substantiated the lack of clinical evidence for or against outboards on fishing waters.

Results gleaned from polling conservation authorities throughout the country showed that the problem, if such a problem exists, is still to be explored. Out of thirty-five replies received, only two were based on actual experiment. The remaining thirty-five reports were labeled as opinion only. It is perhaps significant that the two that were based on experiment reported that negligible harm, if any, resulted from the use of outboard motors in close proximity to fish nests, spawn, or fry.

Wills filed

FRED HINNEBERG

The will of Frederick Hinneberg, late of Palatine, who died July 17 leaving a $21,000 estate, has been admitted to probate in Chicago. He left his daughter, Hannah Bierman, Palatine, $1,000 and ordered the residue of his estate shared equally by her and his three other children, Fred, Jr., Palatine, Henry and William, of Arlington Heights. Hannah was named executrix of the will.

DONALD SYKES

Donald H. Sykes, of Barrington, died intestate July 17 leaving an estimated $3200 in personal property. His heirs as listed in Probate court are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Sykes and brother, Robert, all of Barrington. His father was named administrator of the estate.

MARIE MUTO

Joseph Muto, of Wheeling, is one of six heirs to the $4,000 estate left by his mother, Mrs. Marie Muto, of Chicago, who died May 10. She ordered her estate divided between her five living children and the daughter of a deceased daughter.

ROSE SIGEL

Mrs. Rose Sigel, of Chicago, who died June 29 left a $20,500 estate. Her will gives it equally to her two children, her son, William C. Sigel, of Skokie, was named executor of the will.

ELIZABETH OTTLINGER

The will of Mrs. Elizabeth Ottlinger, of Skokie, who died June 26, leaving a $60,000 estate, has been admitted to probate. She left her estate to her six children in fractional shares. Joseph, of Skokie, is given a 2/7 share in the estate; the five others get 1/7 share each. They are Elizabeth Johnson, Mary Garcia and George Ottlinger, all of Skokie; Josephine Johnson, Westrope, N. D., and Kay Levy, Chicago. Joseph, Ottlinger and H. J. Brown were named as executors of the will.

ORSON HOSTETTER

Orson P. Hostetter, of Winnetka, died intestate June 18, leaving an estimated $22,000. His heirs as listed in Probate court are two sisters and five nieces. Martha Scrimgeour, of Northfield, is a sister.

In the future

Pocket alarm watch for public speakers has a self-propping back and a luminous face. Nylon-coated wire cable is said to give longer life for such diverse items as the carriage return on a typewriter and elevator and steamshovel cables. Windshields stay clear of fog when wiped with a chemically treated cloth, soon to be marketed. Makers of a new laundry product contend that it gives a "fluorescent" finish to fabrics, bringing out dulled colors and making whites whiter. Electric corn-popper with a built-in heating element has a wire agitator to keep kernels from burning. A housewife can make fancy designs on cake frosting with a new decal jelly, which is applied after adding a little water. Aluminum ladder, available in lengths from two to six feet, can be lifted by a six-year-old child, yet it withstands a weight of 500 pounds a step. Now that electric blankets and comforters are here to stay, electric sheets are next on the merchandising list. Combination sander and polisher is especially designed to work in corners and other tight places. It weighs only 2 1/2 pounds; has only two moving parts; does not require oiling. A toothbrush that carries its own paste in the handle is the latest in bathroom accessories.

Washing All-Nylons

Any all-nylon fabric may be washed if the finishing materials, dyes and trimmings, will withstand laundering. If in doubt, test an inconspicuous part of the item such as a hem for color and finishing fastness. Warm sudsy water should be used. Garment should be rinsed thoroughly and hung up away from contact with hot radiators or pipes.

Illinois Model Champs

At U. of Illinois

Approximately 1600 invitations have been sent to prospective students at the University of Illinois to attend the 23rd annual University YMCA Freshman Orientation Camps next month.

Freshmen will leave the University YMCA by bus at noon, September 3, and return at noon, September 6. The second group will leave by bus at 6:00 p. m. on September 6 and return at noon, September 9.

Camp programs will feature: Movies of the UI marching band, and teaching of school songs by Wilbur Hoel, director of the UI men's glee club; talks by Fred H. Turner, UI dean of students; a representative of the student representative bureau; student representatives from the Daily Illini, Theater guild, Star courses, Illini Union, and ROTC; E. E. Stafford, UI dean of men, on honorary societies and good scholarship; a preview of programs for Freshmen provided through the University YMCA will be given and the organization of a Freshman Commission will be completed.

Those invited to attend from Arlington Heights include Marvin Berschet, Kenneth Gronert, William North, Vernon H. Rascher, Arthur Seitz and Ray Wilke.

Campus Capers

At Illinois Wesleyan

One of 400 new students accepted at Illinois Wesleyan University for 1948, Warren Johnson, 140 Wilshire Lane, Arlington Heights, will leave for New Student Week activities to be held on the campus in Bloomington, beginning September 7, 1948.

Warren will register in the College of Fine Arts, where he will pursue a course in music.

At Galesburg

Albert J. Kuhn, Arlington Heights, enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, is one of 63 students at the Galesburg Division of the University of Illinois, who made grade averages of "B" or better last semester.

Kuhn had two "A's" and "B's". The grade average listed is for the eight-week summer term just completed.

The Galesburg Undergraduate Division will observe its second anniversary on October 21, 1948. Classes this fall will start September 15. Registration will be held from September 10 to 14.

At Illinois

A total of 2653 students, including 2333 men and 320 women, from Cook county, attended the University of Illinois last year, according to a tabulation of the geographical distribution of students released today.

Every county in the State was represented. The largest number, of course, was from Cook county which had 2,653; the smallest from Pope with 2.

At U. of Chicago

Four northwest-side residents will be awarded master of business administration degrees from the fourth Executive Program at the 234th convocation of the University of Chicago Thursday, September 2, when the university commemorates the fiftieth anniversary of the School of Business, including L. R. Hinds, 520 South State Road, Arlington Heights, assistant comptroller, International Harvester company.

At Resurrection

Dorothy Ann Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyal M. Rowland of Palatine will enter Resurrection Academy at Norwood Park as a boarding student this year.

Cook County fair to close this week end

The giant Cook County Fair, which since August 27 has been western farm and home life to western farm and home life to Chicago's front door at Soldier Field and surrounding lakefront area, will reach its entertainment peak this week end as it moves toward its final night. The fair will close Monday night at midnight, September 6.

Miles of exhibits, a vast midway, displays of livestock and agricultural products, a model trailer camp, and a spectacular flower show have been among the feature attractions during the fair's first week. This first Cook County Fair ever held in Chicago is awarding $39,000 in premium money to winning exhibitors.

At Stephens

Miss Diane Lewinski of Arlington Heights returned Tuesday from a ten day visit with a school mate, Miss Lillian Johnstone at Winston-Salem, N. C. Miss Johnstone returned with Diane and will be a house guest at the Lewinski home, 1015 Patton ave., until September 7, when she will return to Stephens College at Columbia, Mo., where she is president of Wales Hall for the coming year. On the trip from Winston-Salem the girls stopped off at Washington, D. C.

TALL WHITE TAPERS

TRUTH and beauty glow from this old Book
Like tall white tapers set to light the way.
O hearts distressed and burdened, if we look
There is a light for every darkened day
Here in the living truth, before our eyes,
To cheer and comfort, and to make us wise.

These are the words of others who have known Great tribulation, whose bright faith was lit
Out in the dark, and there with God alone
They found His love—the power and strength of it;
They found His everlasting arms, and laid
Their burdens in them, and were unafraid.

So we should come, in this bewilderment,
To take the hand that, somehow, we have lost,
Like children groping through the dark, and seek
With things for which we paid too high a cost Conning the old Book over, there we find
The light to which we long have been too blind

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Ida Stahmer

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Stahmer, 73, of Arlington Hts., were held Wednesday, September 1, at 2 p. m. from Karstens-Fairbanks funeral home, with Rev. L. V. Stephan officiating. Burial was in Addison cemetery.

Mrs. Stahmer, nee Kollman, was born December 25, 1874, at Grand Island, Nebraska. She was confirmed in 1888 by Pastor August Schuessler at St. Peter Lutheran church, Joliet.

On July 16, 1902, she was married to Julius Stahmer in Addison Ev. Lutheran church by Rev. John Grosse. Following their marriage, the couple lived in Addison for 9 years, when they moved to Davenport, Iowa.

In 1928 they moved to Arlington Heights and took over management of the Lutheran Old Folks home. After the death of her husband on July 4, 1939, Mrs. Stahmer continued management of the home until December 7, 1941. Upon retiring, she made her home at 30 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, where she lived until the time of her death.

Mrs. Stahmer was a member of St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran church, Arlington Heights. After a prolonged illness, Mrs. Stahmer passed away at her home on Monday, August 30, at the age of 73 years, 8 months and 5 days.

She leaves to mourn two children, Victor J. Stahmer, and Mrs. Gretchen Neumann, of Arlington Heights; two brothers, William Kollman and Edward Kollman of Joliet; one sister, Mrs. Hugo Oldsen of Ottawa; one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Pauline Stahmer; and one son-in-law, William Neumann.

Mrs. Stahmer was taken from Karstens-Fairbanks funeral home to St. Peter Ev. Lutheran church on September 1 where she laid in state from noon to 2 p. m. at which time services were held.

William L. Garms

Funeral services for William L. Garms, 74, of Palatine, who died Sunday night, were held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from Palatine Evangelical Lutheran church, with Rev. Glenn Gumm officiating. Burial was in Rand-hill cemetery.

Mr. Garms, who had been living with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Haseman, 302 S. Colfax, for 11 years died at 9:28 p. m. in Sherman hospital, Elgin. He had been ailing for several years.

He was born in Palatine on August 1, 1874 and married Marie Bode. The couple moved to Oklahoma for several years, but Mr. Garms returned to Palatine 11 years ago. Mrs. Garms died in 1928.

Mr. Garms was a policeman on the Palatine force for many years. He retired from active work 15 years ago.

The deceased is survived by three brothers and three sisters, Mrs. Lena Deverman, of Palatine, and Herman Garms, George Garms, John Garms, Mrs. Floyd Duffy and Mrs. Boyd Turner, all of Oklahoma.

Also six children, Mrs. Alma Korber, Mrs. Marie Schwank, Mrs. Wanda Haseman, all of Palatine; Mrs. Mildred Gehrke, of Wheeling; and Alfred and Edward Garms, of Chicago; and 13 grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

Leark, Henry Fred Leark Sr. In loving memory of our dear husband and father who passed away one year ago, Sept. 4. Many a lonely night and silent tears. But always beautiful memories Of one we loved so dear. Loving wife and children.

CARD OF THANKS

May I take this method of thanking neighbors and friends for their kind expressions of sympathy in my bereavement. These expressions have been deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Bernice Bierman. (A-6)

Mathilda Winkelmann

Funeral services for Mathilda Dorothy Winkelmann, nee Hoppenstedt, who passed away Thursday morning, August 26, 1948 following an extended illness, were held from Karstens-Fairbanks funeral home Saturday, August 28, 1948, to St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Arlington Heights, where she laid in state from 12 noon until 2 p. m., when services were held.

Rev. Wm. F. Kamphenkel officiated at the interment in Town of Maine cemetery, Park Ridge, Illinois. Mrs. Winkelmann passed away at the home of her son, George Winkelmann, in Arlington Heights, at the age of 89 years, 11 months and 13 days.

She was born September 13, 1858, in Addison township near Bensenville. Rev. Brosbach baptized her at Churchville, and in 1872 Rev. Lambrecht of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran and Reformed church in Chicago confirmed her.

She was united in marriage to Fred Winkelmann October 20, 1881, in Addison township at their home by Pastor Moeling. This couple made their home on a farm in Town of Maine, two miles south of Des Plaines, for 35 years.

Thereafter, they resided in Park Ridge for eleven years. Moving to Arlington Heights, they made their home with their son, George Winkelmann, for five years and at that time, Mr. Winkelmann, her husband, passed away on August 19, 1932. Two daughters preceded him in death.

Following her husband's death, Mrs. Winkelmann resided at the homes of her children, and for the past five years had lived with her son in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Winkelmann leaves one son, George Winkelmann, of Arlington Heights; two daughters, Mrs. Elvina Schmeltkopf and Mrs. Emily Roecker, both of Park Ridge; ten grandchildren; eight great grandchildren; and two step-brothers, Emil Timm, and Otto Timm, of Chicago.

William J. Larsen

Funeral services for William J. Larsen, 44, of 246 N. Smith street, Palatine, who died Monday morning at Sherman hospital, Elgin, will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. from Tharp funeral home. Rev. W. E. Koester, of Immanuel Lutheran church will officiate. Burial will be in Rand Hill cemetery.

Mr. Larsen, who lived with his mother, Mrs. Sophie Larsen, at the Smith street address, died at 3:55 a. m. following an operation. He had been in the hospital one week.

He was born June 23, 1904, at Palatine, the son of Carl and Sophie Larsen. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran church and was employed by Arlington Seating company, at Arlington Heights.

Mr. Larsen, a bachelor, is survived by his mother; a sister, Mrs. William Gaare, of Palatine; and two brothers, Walter and Emil, both of Palatine. His father and a brother, Herbert, preceded him in death.

Leonard Wilson

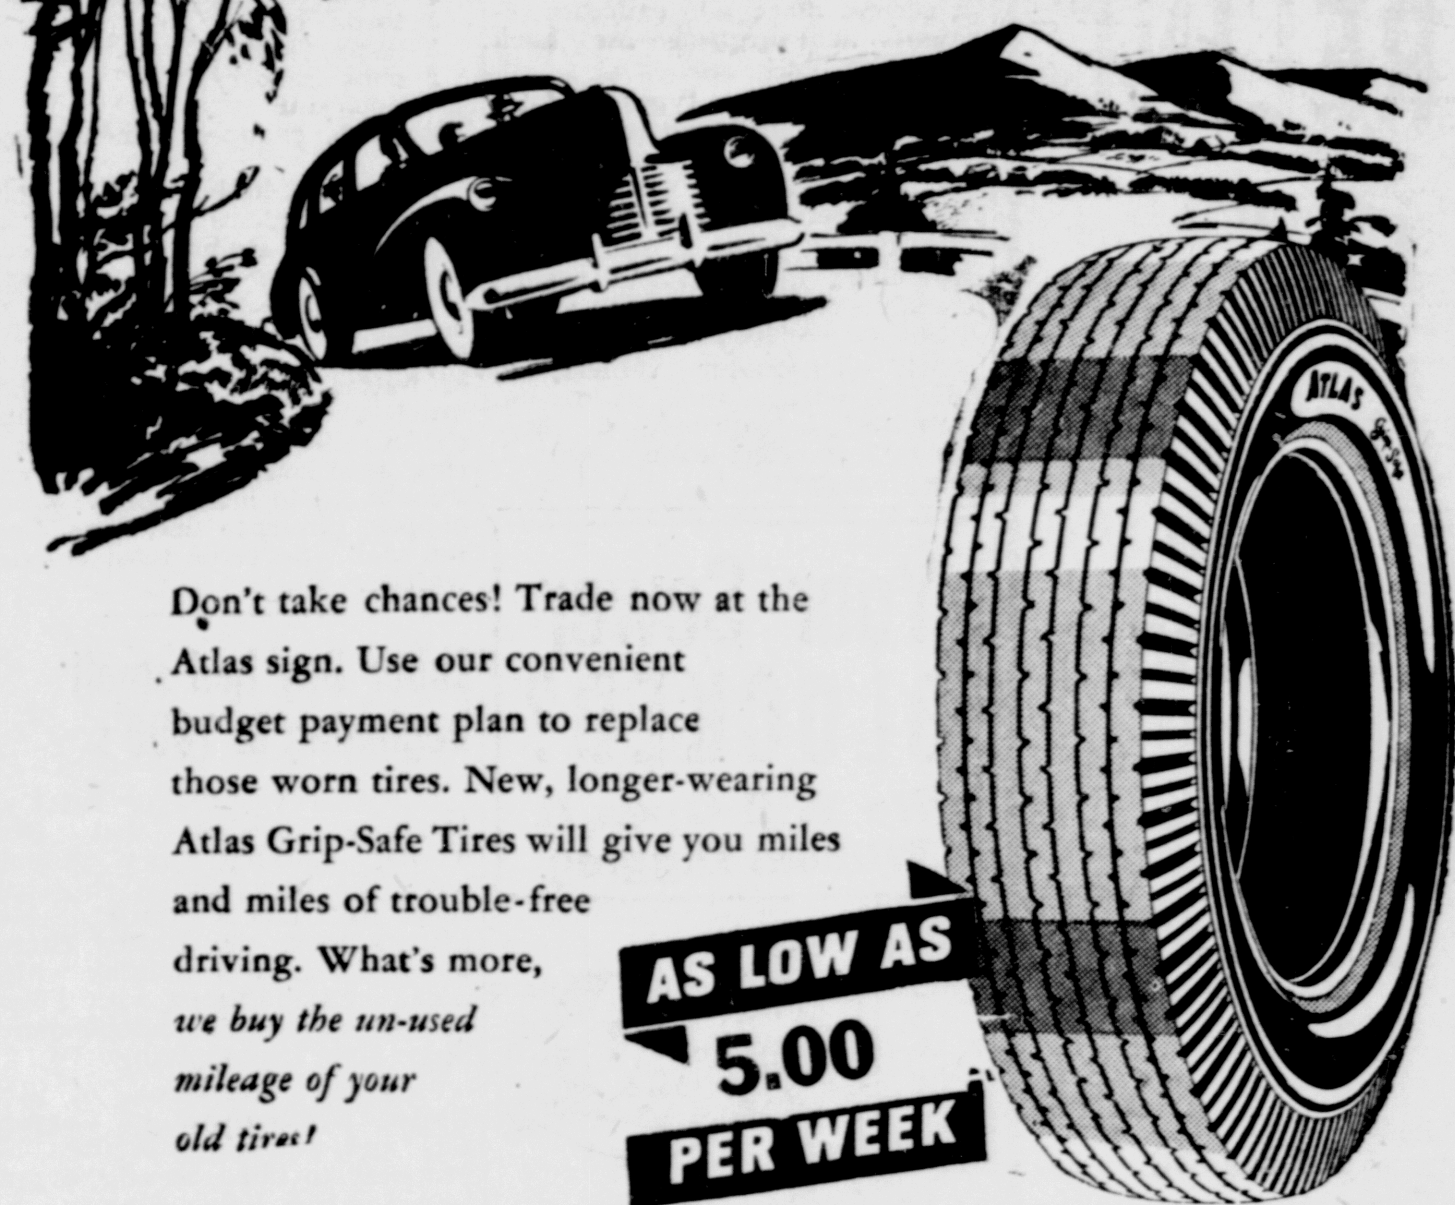

Leonard T. Wilson, traffic manager of Creamery Package Mfg. company, Chicago, died suddenly Thursday, August 26. Funeral services were held Saturday, August 28, at 1:30 p. m. at Ivin's Funeral Home, Burlington road, Riverside, followed by burial at Woodlawn cemetery.

It's hard to believe, but it's true.

Our expenses—fuel, wages, and materials—have risen rapidly during the last two years. Coal alone has gone up 26%.

Although these expenses have been rising, increased output resulting in abnormally high use of equipment has served to offset somewhat the effect of these rising costs.

Electricity—one essential item in the household budget that hasn't gone up in price—provides more and more comfort and convenience to Northern Illinois homes every day.

Our New ECON-O-SEAL

Aluminum Closures

PROTECT MILK PURITY

In a few days you'll see bright new Econ-O-Seal Aluminum Closures on our milk bottles. You'll like Econ-O-Seals because they have many advantages over ordinary bottle caps. They keep milk clean and dairy fresh from the time it's bottled until you use it. Contaminating dirt and germs can't penetrate these Closures. Econ-O-Seals cover the entire top of the bottle, keep the pouring lip clean. Laboratory tested and approved by eminent health authorities, Econ-O-Seals are 100% sanitary, will not affect milk.

These advantages of Econ-O-Seals will save time and bother in the kitchen... simple to remove, no tools needed... re-cover partially emptied bottles... made of aluminum in different colors.

Econ-O-Seals will be on our bottles very soon. If you're not already a customer, call us today. You'll want our purity protected milk.

Styles change in accidents, too

Styles change in accidents, as well as in clothes.

This is shown in the 1948 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook published by the National Safety Council.

The figures show falls were the commonest type of fatal accident 35 years ago, with railroad accidents running second.

Last year, motor vehicle accidents topped the list, falls were in second place and railroad accidents had dropped far back down the list.

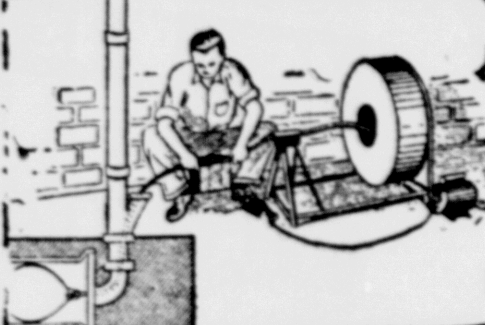

Here the major types of fatal accidents in 1913 and in 1947, as shown in "Accident Facts." They are listed with the worst killers first, and on down the scale.

1913 — 1, falls; 2, railroad; 3, drowning; 4, burns and scalds; 5, motor vehicle; 6, poison gases; 7, poisons except gas; 8, firearms.

1947 — 1, motor vehicle; 2, falls; 3, burns and scalds; 4, drowning; 5, railroad; 6, firearms; 7, poisons except gas; 8, poison gases.

Your weekly treat recipe

This recipe really makes the egg the King and your family will place you on a pedestal for serving this delightful dish. This special treat may be served for breakfast and is a most satisfying one.

EGGS A LA KING

6 hard cooked eggs
1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
2 tbsps. butter
3 tbsps. chopped green pepper
3 tbsps. butter
3 tbsps. flour
2 cups milk
1/2 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. chopped pimento, optional

Method: Shell and slice eggs. Wash mushrooms and slice, using caps and stems. Chop green pepper. Sauté mushrooms and green pepper in first amount of butter, cooking over low heat for 3 minutes. Melt second amount of butter (3 tbsps.) in another sauce pan, blend in flour and stir in milk gradually. Cook, stirring until sauce is thickened and smooth. Add mushrooms, green pepper, pimento and eggs. Season well. Serve on toast or crisp waffles.

Labor Day had small beginning in 1880's

Sixty-six years ago, Peter J. McGuire decided that New York's working men should have the opportunity to strut their stuff. As a result of McGuire's idea, the United States today has a labor holiday which ranks in importance with Presidential birthdays, Independence Day, and Thanksgiving.

McGuire, President of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, submitted his proposal to the recently organized Central Labor Union.

The suggestion was voted and approved to select a day for a parade "which would show the strength and esprit de corps of the trade organizations."

According to Mabel Johnson, research editor of the World Book Encyclopedia, the Union held its first Labor Day parade in New York City, on September 5, 1882. A short time later the powerful "Knights of Labor" voted in favor of an annual celebration.

Two and one-half years later the legislature of Oregon, on February 21, 1887, set apart the first Monday in September as a state holiday in favor of labor. A few months later similar action was taken by Colorado, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and New York.

Before the middle of 1894 the day had been made a legal holiday in thirty states and on June 28 of that year Congress passed an act making Labor Day a legal holiday in the District of Columbia and the Territories. Every state now observes the holiday.

Expenditures of Railroads

Capital expenditures in 1947 for equipment and other improvements to railway property made by Class I railroads, including locomotives and freight and passenger cars, totaled $565,901,000.00, which exceeded by more than 50 per cent the maximum amount spent in any year since 1930.

NW suburban scouts to take part in sessions

Representing the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, a delegation of 4 Scouts will take part with more than a thousand other Scouts from all parts of the nation in a meeting of the Order of the Arrow, national camp honor society, at the University of Indiana, Bloomington, Indiana, September 1, 2 and 3.

The local delegates are: James

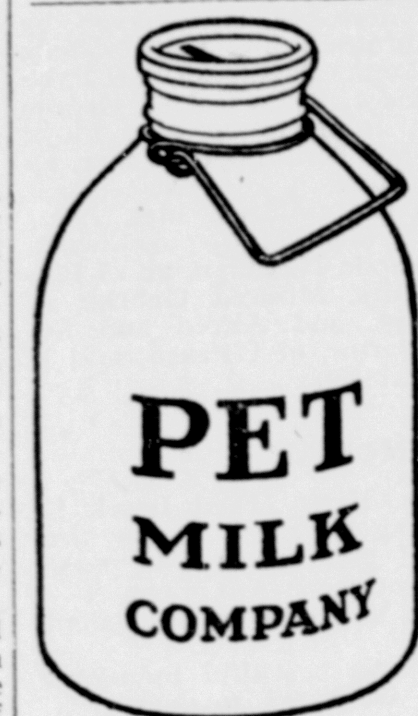

Olmsted, Explorer Post 113, Des Plaines, Leonard Kennard, Troop 42, Des Plaines, David Meineke, Explorer Post 102, Arlington Heights, and Thomas Hissem, Troop 1, Park Ridge.

They are all members of the Lakota Lodge of the Northwest Suburban Council.

THE ORDER of the Arrow is a Brotherhood of nearly 40,000 experienced campers of the Boy Scouts of America, who have been selected by fellow campers as worthy examples of living the Scout Oath and Law. The Order develops and maintains camp traditions and spirit, and generally promotes camping in all Troops of the Movement.

The meeting at the University of Indiana will bring together members of the Order from 360 local councils of the Boy Scouts of America for a 3-day schedule of conferences and "pow wows." Under the leadership of National Chief Robert H. Heistand of Baltimore, the convention will

'Katy did' is strictly gossip of males in trees

These August nights you will hear the katydids: "Katy did. She did. She didn't." There are two notes more often than three. Though harsh and monotonous, it is a melancholy sound because it means that summer will soon be over. The males make the call, although in a few species the female can give a feeble chirp. It's strictly a male debating society.

The katydids, like their close relatives the grasshoppers and crickets, have two pairs of wings. The fore pair — upper when folded back—are larger and stiffer than the soft membranous rear or under pair. The song is made by scraping a toothed file-like edge on the base of the left fore wing across a hard knife-like edge on the right fore wing. Grasshoppers sing by rubbing their hind legs against their wings, whereas crickets rub the upper and lower pairs of wings together.

THERE ARE many species of katydids but only a few are common in this region. Some live in trees; some in meadows. Some are brown, some spotted, some green, depending upon the species and the vegetation upon which they live. Some sing at dusk and dawn; some sing all night. Some lay their eggs in crevices on the soft bark of a tree; some lay them on a leaf; some split the edge of a leaf and lay their eggs between the two layers. Held in captivity, these have been known to split the edge of a piece of writing paper to lay their eggs.

Our common broad-winged katydid is a large green hump-backed slab-sided fellow that lives in trees and is rarely seen. They have a very long delicate antennae, long hind legs, and are good jumpers but their flight is usually short.

The adults all die in the fall. The eggs lie dormant through the winter and hatch in late spring directly into a miniature katydid which grows, molts its skin, and repeats the process until mature. There is no larva or pupa stage.

If you will notice carefully, they sing faster on hot nights. On cold nights they are silent except perhaps for a few hoarse chirps.

Closed casket rule denies son from viewing father's body

A little man with rimless glasses and grey hair sat with head bowed behind his desk at 54 West Hubbard street Thursday. To inquiring reporters he said: "The law is the law, but what's more important, it's the only human thing to do."

Doing the talking was Chicago Health Commissioner Dr. Herman N. Bundesen. Just a short while before, the Army had returned the body of his son-in-law, Sgt. Leonard Phillips, killed in action four years ago in Germany.

The war hero's widow, Mrs. Betty Bundesen Phillips, had already phoned her father. She pleaded to allow the casket opened, not so much for herself, but for her son Neil. She wanted the boy to view the remains of the father he never knew. Neil, you see, was born a month after his father died a hero.

So the newsmen were clamoring for a statement from Dr. Bundesen. "Now would the city law against opening war caskets be relaxed?" they asked. "You brought about enactment of the law, doctor, can you make an exception here?"

The health commissioner answered, "No," he said, "the casket will not be opened. It will stay sealed during funeral services."

The doctor added, "The law has its reasons, reasons not only for medical safety but for human consideration as well."

And, he finished, "I know I am doing what is right."

Newsmen left him alone in the office, to think, and to be left alone.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 1820 South Michigan avenue, and burial was in Oak Lawn cemetery.

WGN-TV signs for first television network programming in city

More television history was made today when WGN-TV signed an agreement with the Dumont Television Network to be the exclusive Chicago outlet for network originated programs.

This will give Chicago viewers the first regular coast-to-coast network programming in this area. In a joint announcement, it was stated that WGN-TV would begin network operations early in September and the first commercial program scheduled for WGN-TV by the Dumont Network is the "Original Amateur Hour" under the sponsorship of the P. Lorillard Company for Old Gold cigarettes beginning September 26. This is a full hour program, Sunday nights from 7 to 8, and is New York's top rated television program. Outstanding sustaining and commercial programs originated by the Dumont Network will be available to WGN-TV immediately.

Experiment in Britain

As an experiment in supplementing Britain's less than wartime food ration, roadside lawns were plowed and planted with barley this spring. It was hoped the idea would spread so that roadsides could yield tomatoes and vegetables as well as grain.

Civil service examinations

Applications are being accepted for men who are interested in securing permanent Federal employment as a welder acetylene (gas) and electric (arc) at $151 per hour. Additional compensation is provided for authorized overtime worked in excess of the 40-hour week.

The United States Civil Service Commission announced examinations for miscellaneous office machine operators, elevator mechanics, and mining engineers. The positions to be filled from the office machine operator and the elevator mechanic examinations are located in Washington, D. C., and vicinity. The mining engineer positions are in the Department of the Interior in Washington, D. C. and throughout the country.

Age limits for these examinations, 18 to 62 years, are waived for persons entitled to veteran preference. Applications for elevator mechanic positions must be received in the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. not later than September 14, 1948, and for miscellaneous office machine operator, not later than September 21. For mining engineering positions, applications will be accepted until June 30, 1949.

Full information and application forms may be secured from the Commission's local secretary, Mr. Francis S. Hall, located at Arlington Heights, from Civil Service regional offices, or from the Civil Service Commission in Washington, D. C.

Advertisers Webber Paint Co. and Confidential Loan released their usual space on this page this week to permit its use for pictures of 4-H club fair, and Prospect Heights festival. Their ads appear on page 9.

Home-raised purebreds win praise of judges

"By all estimates, the exhibits and the attendees, especially Saturday night, at the annual 4-H Fair and Festival at Arlington Heights was larger than a year ago," states Henry L. Mochling and Herman Hinz, representing the farmers and businessmen of Arlington Heights. "The hog exhibits proved to be so large it was necessary to get another tent. So many people were present at the Saturday evening program that at one time the movie show, the auction, and the tents were crowded with spectators.

"We wish to thank the businessmen of North Cook county, the townspeople, and the farmers for their loyal support in this effort. We realize that in another year our accommodations will have to be expanded in order to properly show 4-H club work and give the citizens a chance to properly view it."

Champions and winners

"It is impossible to list all of the winners in this issue and at this time," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. "The following are the champion winners in their various classes. Probably the crowning of the Dairy Queen was the high point and attracted the most interest. The cows were furnished by Mr. Martin Loeber and the Bingham Brothers Dairy Farms.

"The contest was conducted by Martin Meyer, executive committee member of the Farm Bureau and assisted by the members of the Board. The three contestants were Laura Freise, of Palatine; Dorothy Vermillion, of Bensenville, and Marilyn Schulze of Bensenville. The winner was Bernice Runge, of Mt. Prospect, who milked 14.6 pounds in three minutes and was crowned Dairy Queen of North Cook county.

"The greased Hampshire gilt pig was caught by Eugene Busch of the Leyden club. This gilt was donated by H. H. Anderson of Long Grove Acres Farm to be caught by a 4-H club boy eligible to be in club work next year and to show this gilt at next year's show."

After the crowning of the Dairy Queen, a public auction was conducted by Henry L. Mochling who sold the champion steer, a hereford, for $440 which was purchased by John Weiss for Armour and Co. Dorothy Vermillion, the owner, is a member of the Jr. Farmers 4-H club.

The reserve champion owned by Kenneth Bartels from the Washington 4-H club was purchased by Bob Schnell for 40¢ per pound. Also, a Swiss heifer owned by Howard Birks; a Holstein calf owned by Gordon Stader; a ram owned by Marvin Buchholz; a ewe sheep and a ram lamb owned by LaVerne Meyer; and a Southdown ewe owned by Marvin Buchholz were auctioned off.

Swine

The following were champions of the different departments: Leonard Benhardt, Schaumburg, won the pure bred Chester White gilt championship; John Lauffenburger, Palatine, pure bred litter Duroc; Edwin Lin-

Hughes at the mike

Thru the installation of a sound system by Herman F. Hinz & Co., the crowds were kept in touch with the awards by Farm Adviser Hughes who assisted the Master of Ceremonies, Dr. Nordhausen, in making announcements.

mann, Elk Grove, pure bred Hampshire boar; John Voss, Washington club, the single barrow Duroc; Franklin Kile, Elk Grove, pen of three barrows; Marvin Straub, Washington, pen of four market hogs.

Sheep

Elmer Meyer, of Palatine, aged ewe, Shropshire; Marvin Buchholz, Washington, pure bred Southdown ram; Elmer Meyer, Palatine, the single market lamb.

Dairy champions

John Loeber, Wheeling club, won with a Junior pure bred Holstein calf. Melvin Meyer,

THE FENCE POST

Letters to the Fence Post should be short and concise. All letters must be signed, though name will be withheld if desired. Address: Fence Post, Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

STARLINGS

Many Arlington Heights property owners have signed a petition to the village board demanding some action to try to get rid of the starlings that have put a blight on the town.

The petition was circulated this week and was sent to Mayor Goedke in time for it to be presented at the Monday night (Aug. 30) meeting of the board.

You would be doing a service to your subscribers and the community in general if you got behind this movement and gave it some help.

I wonder if it is generally known that many residents are talking about getting a village board that will do something on this matter, or moving away from Arlington Heights. Yes, the starling problem is that serious. It isn't unreasonable for Arlington Heights to get rid of starlings since other cities have done it.

There has been little or nothing in the Herald about the plague of starlings which, to many citizens, constitute the greatest disadvantage of this otherwise model community. Is the Herald afraid of a controversy between neglected taxpayers and a do-nothing village board?

THANK YOU

I am taking this opportunity to thank you for your generosity for providing funds and donating your labor in furnishing my house. I am especially grateful to the American Legion and the VFW; also to Elroy Harris and Forrest Davis, for providing the incentive for making this possible.

I must also express my gratitude to the Paddock Publications for their help in raising funds.

To all the good people who helped me in my hour of need, and are too numerous to mention by name, I can only say, thank you, and may God bless you, one and all.

John Martin.

THANK YOU

Palanios Park Garden club is deeply appreciative of the co-operation of Paddock Publications in its recent venture, the Harvest Festival. The success of this show was due to such consideration on the part of all the businessmen and residents of this area.

Even now plans are being made for an even greater harvest festival in 1949. The enthusiastic support we have received will do much to make this possible.

4-H girls model winning dress creations

Prize winners in the three age groups of the children's parade are shown above. Winners in the 3 to 5 age group were Jimmy and Doris Jean Oldham with the Old Swimming Hole entry first, and Jimmy Cooper and Sandra Olson's paper lion.

Winning entries in the 5 to 7 age group were Jerry Macey and David Nessen with their novelty entry first, and Allan Coomer in clown outfit. Winner in the 7 to 9 age group was the 1968 fire engine.

Community Camera

Winners acclaimed for exploits at North Cook County 4-H fair in Arlington Heights

steer, "Champ." Dorothy is a member of Junior Farmers 4-H club.

Arlington Heights walked off with the noisiest contest of the two day show when Bill Linneman took the hog calling championship. His prize was a can of feed. Bill is pictured at the lower left.

Delilah Deeke of Arlington Heights gives a demonstration in the center of yeast breads. Her efforts were awarded one of the top two demonstrations.

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "His vocation, during spare hours, is selling books." Avocation is one's casual occupation; vocation is a regular occupation.
Do not say, "George came near winning the race." Say, "George almost won the race."
Do not say, "John Hancock was the first man of all to sign the Declaration of Independence." Omit of all.
Do not say, "Reverend William Hill will address the people." Say, "The Reverend William Hill."

Do not say, "John was fired last week." It is better to say, "was discharged."
Do not say, "Which of the two buildings is the largest?" Say, "is the larger," when referring to two.

Words Often Mispronounced

Suite. Pronounce sweet, not soot.
Pro rata. Pronounce pro ra-ta, o as in no, first a as in ray, accent first syllable of second word.
Herb. The pronunciation urb is preferred to hurb.

Diabetes. Pronounce di-a-be-tis, i as in die, a unstressed, both e's as in me, accent third syllable.
Duke. Pronounce the u as in Oppress. Pronounce the o as in of, not as in no.

Words Often Misspelled

Recommend; one c, two m's. Peaceable; observe the cea. Usage; not useage. Cavalry (horsemen). Calvary (where Christ was crucified). Grammar; ar, not er. Proceed; two e's. Procedure; one e before the d.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

EXPATiate; to enlarge in discourse or writing; be copious in discussion or description. "He expatiated her charms."

DEFERENCE; courteous regard for another's wishes. "The elderly man was treated with deference."

RETICENT; inclined to keep silent. "He was reticent, and would not divulge the secret."

IGNOMINIOUS; humiliating; degrading. "He heard the judge pronounce the ignominious sentence."

PRESUMPTUOUS; taking for granted; overbold. "It is a presumptuous idea."

LUCRATIVE; profitable. "The profession is very lucrative."

Laundry hints how to save on clothes bill

Here's a time-saving tip for housewives who fill their laundry bags in the same manner as they run their homes—in a neat and orderly fashion. Use the time spent folding soiled sheets and other flatwork prior to putting them in the laundry bag to better advantage. If you fold such items, say the American Institute of Laundering, laundries have to unfold them to insure proper cleansing. And, of course, all articles must be unfolded when they reach the ironers.

Bed linens last longer if allowed to rest between use periods, according to the American Institute of Laundering. The Institute recommends putting your laundered sheets at the bottom of the linen drawer, using only from the top.

CLEAN FABRICS are not found on a moth's menu. Dirty, dusty materials, according to the American Institute of Laundering, are the favorite foods of this well-known insect. Fabrics which have been laundered do not whet his appetite.

The wrong way to tie up your soiled clothing and flatwork, according to the American Institute of Laundering, trade association for the laundry industry, is to use a knotted sheet. Laundry bags of heavy crash or other sturdy materials, tightly tied, have now replaced the much-abused sheet, never intended by the manufacturer to be used as a carry-all.

A stitch in time will save more than nine if you'll keep a sharp outlook for holes and tears when assembling your laundry bundle. Soiled clothing and flatwork should be mended before the laundry routeman shows up, according to the American Institute of Laundering.

If time is at a premium, merely draw the holes together roughly for the time being with an over-sewing stitch. Thin spots should be reinforced by darning, either by hand or machine, before sending to the laundry.

PICK POCKETS clean before putting garments in the laundry bag. Valuables of every size and description wind up in laundries throughout the country, according to the American Institute of Laundering. And they say pockets aren't the only things to be checked. Men's dress shirts should be inspected, too, to see that shirt studs and cuff links have been removed.

Governor one of Legion speakers at Chicago convention

The three principal speakers who will address the 30th annual state convention of the American Legion here Sept. 10-13 were announced today (Fri.) by Frank W. Bloom, convention chairman. They are Gov. Dwight H. Green and U. S. Senators C. Wayland Brooks and Scott W. Lucas.

Green will talk at the opening business session, the afternoon of Sept. 10, in the Chicago Arena. Erie St. and McClurg Ct. Mayor Martin H. Kennelly will precede the governor with a welcoming address.

Brooks is scheduled to appear at the second business session, the morning of Sept. 11, and Lucas at the final gathering at 9 a. m., Sept. 13.

Bits o' business

A shortage of well-located business and office space still prevails in 81 per cent of U. S. cities recently surveyed by real estate brokers. The steel industry is headed for a new production record this year. The output of finished steel in the first six months totaled 33 million tons, a rate that if continued will enable the industry to eclipse the all-time high of 63,251,000 tons in 1944.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.
Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.
The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Professional courtesy

Doctor Ward's Notebook

"I will share my substance with him, and I will supply his necessities, if he be in need. I will regard his offspring even as my own brethren . . ."

One of the most gratifying aspects of medicine is the practice of professional courtesy. According to this concept, which has become a cornerstone of medical ethics since first proposed by Hippocrates, physicians render their service to other physicians and to their immediate families without charge.

This courtesy extends in some measure to all those who work in close relationship with medicine. Few doctors have ever had to pay for a pulled tooth—and dentists usually receive free medical care. Nurses in active practice, pharmacists, veterinarians, orderlies and others often are cared for at reduced rates. Many times there will be no opportunity for the patient to reciprocate. Nevertheless, physicians feel that their time is well invested in terms of prestige to the profession. In the long run, each generation of medical personnel will look after the medical needs of each succeeding generation.

There is sound reasoning behind mutual interest. While a physician may be able to care for the minor ills of his family, it is virtually impossible for him to render an objective, unbiased opinion when a loved one is desperately ill. Despite years of training in cool and deliberate thinking under pressure, emotions interfere with judgment. It is a wise doctor who calls in a colleague when there is illness in his family and says "Take over and make all the decisions." The point of view of a worried father or husband is not that of an impartial physician who must act always in the patient's best interest. An emotional attachment to the one who is suffering makes it unwise for a doctor to operate upon or take serious professional responsibility for a member of his family except in an emergency.

It is this spirit of comradeship, this willingness to help when things are tough, that makes medicine a unique fraternity. I remember one young M. D. who travelled several miles across Chicago by street car to care for a retired physician living by himself. Despite the loss of sleep and detriment to his regular practice, he refused the old gentleman's offers of payment. It is not uncommon for a doctor to treat a colleague or a member of his family for many months without giving a thought to compensation.

A novice in medical circles soon learns that, despite petty jealousies, quarrels, cliques, and pressure groups which might exist among such individuals, one of his colleagues will never fail to "supply his necessities, if he be in need."

(This is the second of a series of articles on present-day implications of the Hippocratic Oath.)

Man in a hurry crawls under train and loses right arm

Edward L. Sokolowski, 45, who crawled under a Northwestern train only to lose his right arm as the train started up, is still on the "serious" injury list at Cook County hospital.

Sokolowski, who lives at 1340 Haddon ave., Chicago, was trying to catch an eastbound train to the city, but found the 6:41 westbound train blocking his way at the Center street pedestrian crossing. The train was unloading passengers from the extreme south set of rails.

He took a short cut and crawled under the westbound train.

Sokolowski was trapped under the car as the train started up. His right arm was almost completely severed, the attending doctor reported.

Amputation of the right arm at the shoulder was performed at the county hospital.

Q. What is the correct sequence of pages when writing on folded note paper?

A. One may write on pages one and two, one and three, or one and four. But do not write on one, three, two, and four, nor one, four, two, and three.

Q. At a formal dinner, where are the water glasses placed on the table?

A. The glass should be placed to the right of the plate, at the end of the knives.

Q. Should a woman apologize for not removing her gloves to shake hands, or should she remove the glove?

A. Neither is necessary.

Q. What is the proper time to acknowledge a wedding gift?

A. On the day it is received if possible. If the bride will do this from day to day, she will not be swamped with obligations when the wedding day arrives.

Q. If one is visiting in a home for several days, should he fold his napkin at the end of each meal?

A. Yes. It should be folded neatly and placed beside his plate. It would be very inconsiderate to expect a clean napkin for each meal.

Q. Is it all right to typewrite an invitation, acceptance of an invitation, or regrets?

A. While it is being done, the typewriter should be used only for business purposes.

Q. What is the proper position for a person to hold his head while eating at the table?

A. The head should be held in an erect position, but not stiffly. Bend the body forward slightly, of course, when taking a bite. But the head should never be bent down over the plate.

Q. If a hostess asks a guest to play bridge and he feels that he lacks skill, would it be all right for him to decline?

A. Yes; he may decline and should of course explain the reason.

Q. Should a woman use the abbreviation "Jr." after her name if her husband is a junior?

A. It will avoid confusion if she does, unless the mother-in-law lives out of town.

Q. What should one do if someone reaches across another person in order to shake hands?

A. This is not good manners, but if it is done, you must ac-

Every farm wife must be a fire chief says Hughes

"Every farmer's wife a fire chief." That's what County Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes is urging to cut down the number of farm fires that kill about 3,500 persons annually in America's rural areas.

"Over 50 percent of the farm fires start in the farmhouse," he revealed. "The housewife, therefore, is the logical person to be home fire chief and check up on others in the family so that they won't start fires through carelessness."

This means she must be especially careful in her own everyday tasks, he pointed out. "Electric irons alone start 40 fires a day in American homes, while ignition of hot grease and cook-stove fires account for many more."

As home fire chief, the farm wife should deputize a man in the family to check electrical connections and outlets regularly to prevent fires from sparks and short circuits, the adviser declared. "She should also see that dry cleaning is not done near stoves or open flames. Home dry-cleaning fires kill more than 800 people every year."

"Careless smoking causes more than one-third of the 300,000 fires that happen in the home every year."

Hughes suggested that fire extinguishers be kept within easy reach in case fires do occur. Properly used, they can keep fire from spreading while help is on the way. But the greatest fire-preventive is fire-alertness. And housewives can make their families alert and keep them alert to fire dangers better than anyone else in the family.

Cool Ironing Spot

Today's homemaker on a modern, electrified farm can combine the pleasure of being out-of-doors with the work of keeping house. She can perform her tasks more quickly and efficiently, and still have one eye free to watch the children at play.

Ironing formerly was a particularly tedious job that meant standing for long hours and made a hot kitchen hotter. Now, the new fold-away electric ironer that can be rolled out to a shady spot on the porch makes it possible to sit down and catch the breezes while working, a pleasure usually reserved for times when all the household chores are done.

Shirts can be Gladironed in four and one-half minutes, about one-third the time required to do the same job by hand. Since summertime means a heavy laundry load of work clothes for the men and play clothes for the children, this time saving is a welcome bonus to the farm wife.

All the family ironing can be done efficiently with the electric ironer. Shirts, slacks, dresses and playclothes as well as sheets, tablecloths and other flatwork can be ironed on the convenient sleeve-size roll.

The folding iron uses one knee control for all operations, so that both hands can be used to guide clothes through the machine.

After a cooler, shorter ironing day, the machine can be folded up and wheeled back into the house. The folded Gladiron can be stored conveniently in a closet when not in use, since it requires only 1 3/4 square feet of floor space.

Oil imports up; exceed exports

For the first time in 25 years imports of oil into the United States during 1948 will exceed exports, Stanton K. Smith, president, Smith Oil & Refining Co., chairman of the Illinois Oil Industry Information committee, announced.

This prediction, Mr. Smith said, is based on the Bureau of Mines forecast that 1948 imports of oil will total more than seven and one-half billion gallons in comparison with exports of six billion gallons. This charge resulted from the need to help meet the unprecedented increase in demand for petroleum products in this country until the oil industry can carry out a record expansion program, he said.

In addition to the oil exports for use by other countries, oil still is being exported for United States military needs abroad and special government projects in Germany, Japan and Greece, he said. Of regular exports of gas, oil and distillates in 1947, the largest part, 29.9 per cent, went to the United Kingdom; Canada was second with 18.3 per cent, while other large customers for distillates included Sweden, Australia, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, and France.

The Bureau of Economic and Business Research at the University of Illinois has just completed estimates of retail trade in Illinois counties. This study, which includes figures through the first quarter in 1948, was made to furnish interested people with the latest data available. Estimates of retail trade by counties are usually made for an entire year, which means that no figures for 1948 will be published until sometime in 1949. The Bureau feels that businessmen and other interested persons require and are entitled to more up-to-date information than has been furnished in the past.

Retail trade in Cook county, which includes business in Chicago, totaled $1,139,098,229 for the first 3 months of 1948, more than half of the State total. This represented an increase of 13.2 per cent from the level for the first quarter of 1947 and was 137.0 per cent greater than in the same period in 1941. However, since a substantial part of the gain in dollar volume was the result of price increases, the true change in sales—adjusted for the rise in prices—was just 4.1 per cent from the 1947 period and 27.8 per cent from the first quarter in 1941.

Total sales in 1947 were $4,432,523,017, 17.2 per cent greater than in 1946 and up 91.6 per cent from the 1941 level. After adjusting for the increase in prices, the actual gain between 1946 and 1947 was just 0.9 per cent and Proper storage can protect grain supplies

Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes appealed to Cook county farmers this week to protect their grain supplies through proper farm storage, and to make possible more orderly marketing of current crops by taking advantage of government loans and purchase agreement programs.

Hughes stressed the importance of holding more grain on the farm and thus relieving the strain on inadequate commercial storage equipment. He pointed out that this year's grain crop was the most expensive ever produced, from the standpoint of farmers' production costs. It would be a "case of good judgment" for growers to protect their investment in the grain, he said.

Support prices of grains have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Corn, for example, will be supported at 90 percent of the corn parity price as of October 1, 1948, by loans on farm-stored corn and by purchases of corn delivered under purchase agreements.

Thirteen Is Important Number When Farmers Talk About Eggs and Lights

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Some may think of 13 as being an unlucky number. But poultrymen know differently. For 13 is the generally accepted standard for the number of hours of light required per day by hens to reach their maximum egg laying capacity. A decrease in this number causes a drop in egg production; but, an increase seems sired periods. It is important to have plenty of feed and water available at all times. During the winter, water should be sufficiently warmed to remove the chill. This can be accomplished easily through the use of small electric heaters of various types. The amount of electricity used for poultry house lighting varies from 3 to 6 kilowatt hours of power per 100 birds.

Another important aid to top egg production in cold weather is proper

Three poultry house lighting practices are followed: morning lights, evening lights and all-night lights. Regardless of the practice adopted, however, most poultrymen switch on the lights in October. They continue until March or early April when artificial lighting is no longer necessary. General lighting recommendations follow:

For morning and evening light, one 50-watt lamp should be used for each 200 square feet of floor space. Lights should be placed in reflectors, approximately 16 inches in diameter and 4 inches deep. If all-night lights are used, one 10 to 15-watt lamp is required for each 200 square feet of floor space. Place all lights 6 feet above the floor and locate them so that roosts and waterers are well illuminated. It is recommended that time switches be installed to turn lights on and off automatically at de-ventilation. A good ventilation system should keep the floor litter dry, prevent moisture and frost from collecting on the walls, prevent sudden temperature changes and eliminate drafts of cold air. Also it should require very little personal attention. Electric fan systems have been tested under farm conditions for several years and meet these demands. Top results, of course, depend on having the systems properly designed and expertly installed. Careful attention should be given to selecting motors and fans of adequate capacity and correct type, and to the construction and location of out-take ducts and in-take openings. Floors of houses should be tight, and too many birds should not be crowded into available floor areas. Under satisfactory conditions, the electric energy used by a 12-inch fan for 500 laying birds averages 2 kilowatt hours of power per day.

LAW on the FARM

Poultry. In 1927 the Illinois legislature passed an act requiring persons dealing or trading in live poultry to procure a license from the State Department of Agriculture. Separate licenses are required for each place of business and motor vehicle or other conveyance used. Persons buying live poultry or trading merchandise for poultry are regarded as dealers. The law requires licenses to be prominently displayed. Poultry dealers must keep records of transactions showing the number, weight, description, and breed of live birds procured and identifying the seller. Violation of this license law is a misdemeanor punishable by fine and by possible revocation of the license. The act does not apply to resale by the dealer or to transactions involving poultry produced outside of Illinois.

Further protection to farm poultry producers is given by the Illinois Commission Merchants Act, requiring commission merchants handling poultry and other farm produce to be licensed and bonded.

Although cities may regulate the sale of poultry and may inspect poultry products, farm producers are by law privileged to sell poultry to city consumers subject only to such license provisions as the city deems necessary in the interest of public health and welfare.

Illinois law makes it a criminal offense to alter poultry marks or brands with intent to steal or prevent identification of the birds.

In 1921 the legislature created a state board of poultry husbandry to encourage the poultry industry in various ways, including publication, exhibits, and contests. This work is carried on under the direction of the State Department of Agriculture.

Questions frequently arise regarding liability for trespass by poultry. One who allows his birds to go on the land of others may be held liable for any damage caused. Any reasonable means may be employed to prevent poultry from causing damage to property. If an owner persists in not confining his poultry and they repeatedly frequent adjoining lands, they may be classified as a nuisance and an action maintained to enjoin further trespass.

The laws referred to are in the Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter

5, sections 17-24.91; Chapter 3, sections 127-130; Chapter 24, sections 23-63, 23-64; Chapter 38, section 446; and Chapter 127, section 40a.

Simplify forms for Vets' training

Illinois World War II veterans entering training on and after September 1 under the GI Bill of Rights are expected to benefit greatly from a simplification of forms and procedures in conjunction with letters of eligibility.

Homer G. Bradney, administrator of the Illinois Veterans Commission announced today that service officers in all of the 102 counties of the state have been briefed on the changes and are ready to assist veterans in the new forms and procedures.

Major change is the substitution of five application forms.
These forms are used in applying for educational benefits, re-entering or interrupting educational courses for accrued leave.
Veterans should apply 30 days prior to entering education or training but will be permitted in this instance to submit an old type letter of eligibility provided it is accompanied by one of the new forms.

The expressed objective of the new procedure is to speed up processing of applications for veterans in institutional and on-the-job training. However, the new change requires clearance with the VA central office in Washington, and if this operation creates no backlog, subsistence payments may be received more promptly than in the past.

It Happened Here . . .

In The Garden
The phlox is surely waiting for the word.

In such hushed reverence each head is raised;

A holy, rapt procession within these cloistered walls.

Where in the garden's morning the voice of God is heard.

Peggy, squiring Betsy at the Railroad Fair, took pains that her charge should see the most interesting things and from the best vantage point; at the rodeo

she wangled a safe place to climb and hold on while watching the event. Betsy took one step up and hastily stepped down.

"Aunt Peggy," she explained, "I am not the kind of person that likes to climb up on things; I get dizzy and might fall."

The rodeo was given a miss . . .
Mrs. C., our neighbor, looked and was half exasperated; she said she'd had a long distance call from Guy, her son, who teaches in Tulane university. "Of course a long distance call from Guy is an event, but what do you think he wanted to tell me?"

Their dog, Smoky, had just had six pups, and, being pedigreed, could be sold for fifty dollars a piece. You'd think it was grandchildren he was calling about but no—dogs."

S'Amasser.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Perhaps of all the planets in the heavens, the moon is the most responsible for the emotional upsets which succeed in bringing unwary bachelors within the bonds of matrimony.

What a girl can't possibly do in broad day light, she succeeds in doing admirably well in the moonlight. For some mysterious reason, probably known only to psychologists and God, the power of woman is phenomenally increased under the spell of a full moon. Men who have pursued their solitary way through countless previous threatening martial entanglements, succumb mushily to the mystic influence of the moon, and are deceived from the free and happy living of bachelors hood into the hum drum existence of the poor married man.

Even girls with physical handicaps rope their man with the aid of their powerful accomplice floating lazily, and to all appearances innocently, in the vast heavens above them. Nothing—nothing in all this great big beautiful world can keep even the poorest coquette from enticing the helpless male who has succumbed to its spell into their matrimonial snare—with the possible exceptions of halitosis and
B. O.

Despite all this lunar satellite has done to poor helpless man, sentimental songs have been written about it, poems rave about its veiled beauty and mystic powers, and sentimentalists the world over sing and recite them.

One would think, as generations go by and one generation of free men after another is subjugated by the moon's power to a double life, they would become wary of lover's lures, rose gardens, and women in the moonlight. Yet far from becoming wary, the moonstruck male walks into the trap with open eyes. Advice does no good, nor does fatherly admonition.

Instead of fearing the moon, and staying out of its sight, man has invented atomic power and is experimenting with a space ship in the hope that some day he may land upon it. He is like a miller attracted by a light, and a very feeble and useless light at that. Useless, and even dangerous because the moon gives very little heat or light, messes up the ocean, and once out of its orbit, might collide with the earth bringing destruction to us all. It is a pitiful and tragic situation, but I see nothing that can be done about it.

Red Cross nursing courses begin Sept. 13

Chicago area housewives can learn simple nursing techniques in a series of free Red Cross courses which will begin at Chicago Chapter Red Cross headquarters, 329 South Wabash avenue, September 13.

One course covers mother, baby, and family health, and the second, the home care of the sick. Both are taught by registered nurses, and each covers six two-hour sessions. Each class meets twice a week and is completed in three weeks. The first is designed especially for the expectant mother and teaches her how to bathe, feed clothe, and train an infant. In the second course, students learn how to recognize the common symptoms of illness, how to follow a doctor's orders scientifically, how to feed and bathe a patient, and prepare bedside trays.

Classes will be scheduled mornings, afternoons, and evenings to meet the convenience of both the working woman and the housewife. For further information, phone Wabash 7850, Ext.
64. Applicants are urged to enroll early.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

DEAR JANE:

To the Wisconsin State Fair in Milwaukee yesterday with George and Edward for what will, perhaps, be their last "treat" before school resumes. It was Daddy's birthday, too, so, in the manner of celebrating a large and special occasion, we got an early start for our all-day visit to the Fair grounds at the south end of the city.

Since Wisconsin has its centennial this year we expected to see many things of historical value, and we were not disappointed.
The earliest days from the time of the Indians, and the French explorers and missionaries, were interestingly presented in writing, pictures, sculpture, clothing, cooking utensils, housing, etc.

The boys were particularly anxious to see the Indian collections, and later on, the collection of flags, uniforms, and firearms, that were used during the Civil War. They made comparisons with our own modern equipment both in war and in peace times, and marked the vast progress. These comparisons in all exhibits, made the Fair more interesting than in previous years.

George and Edward got a great laugh when Rob showed them the same model Nash car their parents drove twenty years ago. It was shown along with even earlier models, with their human size "dummy" occupants dressed to the hilt within the antiquated cars. The boys also saw the new Tucker car, and the latest in trailers. The latter gave Rob and me the wanderlust feeling immediately. One aluminum body trailer looked like a streamlined train. It had everything one would want for comfort and privacy. "Someday," Rob said, solemnly, "we're going to have one of those things and see the world!"

As I look back, I'm sure Rob and the boys enjoyed the great exhibitions in improved farm machinery more than anything else they saw at the Fair. There they saw the first rubber-tired tractor that the Allis-Chalmers company put out. It was a very heavy, very impressive looking machine, and this particular model had its first set of tires, worn so smooth they looked like inflated rubber tubes. We saw every kind of machinery that the modern, and I should add, prosperous farmer uses on his farm. The initial cost of these marvels of present day farming adds up to no small
ple would open their eyes in surprise if they knew what it costs to purchase even the bare necessities in implements these days.

All of us enjoyed watching the judging of awards to the various dairy cattle. The Holstein breed, which is the favorite, commercially, in our own part of Illinois, was the least spectacular in appearance. We were particularly attracted to the Brown Swiss and the Ayrshires of the Curtis Candy Farms, which were on display in a beautifully kept barn, free from flies. The Ayrshires wore brass chains with identifying locks. Someone made the remark that they are not a vicious breed, so there is not a real necessity for removing their horns. Be that what it may,

I still wouldn't want to get too close to their heads. One quick movement of a cow's head could do a lot of damage to whatever or whoever happened to be nearby.

We did not see our favorite breed, the Jersey cow, with one exception. We went to call on Elsie, the Borden Cow, and her young son, Beaugard, both registered Jerseys. Believe me, that is an experience. Imagine our surprise and delight to see them resting in a bedroom filled with early Americana! Elsie sleeps in a four-poster bed bedecked with green ruffles, and Beaugard sleeps in a pink and white pen, which has a huge rattle tied to a corner post. The main light fixture in this bedroom is a wagon wheel to which are attached oil lanterns. Old picture frames on the wall hold serious-faced Elmer, the bull, and other members of the "family." We were asked to move in single file, and quickly, before this maternal scene, so I wasn't able to take in all the details, but I remember there was a large cradle phone on Elsie's "dressing table," and her hat—a very large brimmed straw with a bunch of flowers tied to its front, lay carelessly on a chair near the bed. Yes, she wears a chain of black-eyed Susans around her neck, even when she's in bed. Wouldn't city children, who seldom have a chance to visit on a farm, love to see this clever bit of Borden company advertising?

We found the forest and sol conservation exhibits very worthwhile. However, I noted a rather ironic touch. They had sawed sometimes chopped, their beautiful specimens of evergreens and set them thusly in wet sand or soil in the displays. Consequently, they soon die and must be replaced from time to time. Why couldn't they have dug them up and balled the roots, so that eventually they could be replanted. Rob and I looked longingly at some handsome specimens of Austrian pine. It was hard to think that it would be but a day or two and their beautiful green needles would of necessity turn brown and dry.

I think the Fair closes immediately after Labor Day weekend, so I shall be too late to suggest that you attend. You might check up on this, however, for if you find you still have time, do take at least one child along with you—you and they will be well rewarded for hours thusly spent.

With love, Mary.
